Supreme Court Rules Bishop Cannon Must Stand Trial

INDICTMENT IS UPHOLD IN RULING

Miss Ada Burroughs, Secretary to Reformer Also Included in Decision
FEDERAL ACT UPHELD
Couple Accused of Violating Corrupt Practices Act in 1928 Campaign

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Bishop James Cannon, jr., reform leader of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, must stand trial here on charges of violating the corrupt practices act in the 1928 presidential campaign, the supreme court ruled today.

The court upheld an indictment charging Cannon and his secretary, Miss Ada L. Burroughs, with failure to report contributions to their campaign against Alfred E. Smith.

The ruling, which applies likewise to Miss Burroughs, also upheld the validity of the corrupt practices act, which the churchmen had challenged.

The specific contributions which the defendants were charged with having failed to report to the clerk of the house of representatives were part of $63,500 contributed by E. C. Jameson, New York capitalist and prohibitionist.

The contributions were made to Cannon as head of the anti-Smith Democrats, an organization through which Cannon worked in his campaign to convert dry southern states to the support of Herbert Hoover as against Alfred E. Smith.

A senate investigation traced the Jameson contribution through a maze of bank accounts, personal and political. Miss Burroughs called as a witness, refused to testify but no action was taken on that score.

At the conclusion of the investigation, but before the committee had time to report, a District of Columbia grand jury in the fall of 1931 began an inquiry which resulted in the indictment.

Cannon at once attacked the indictment and the law in court, holding the act was invalid since it attempted to regulate the election of presidential and vice presidential electors which he contended was a purely state function out of the realm of federal regulation.

The District of Columbia supreme court failed to pass on the law's validity but held the indictment imperfect. On appeal, the court of appeals upheld both the indictment and the law. This decision was upheld by the supreme court today.

CONGRESS WILL GIVE SUPPORT TO PRESIDENT

Assurance Given by Both Republicans, Democrats Survey Reveals

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Overwhelming support of President Roosevelt was indicated today in a survey of sentiment among senators and congressmen at the end of the first week of the present session of congress.

Disagreement with certain aspects of the president's policies was expressed here and there. But Democrats and Republicans alike testified to Mr. Roosevelt's personal popularity throughout the country. They agreed that to oppose him vigorously now would be to fly in the face of public opinion.

This condition was expected to prevail as long, at least, as economic conditions continue their present favorable trend.

Members of congress who seek their constituents' views have reported that the people want the president supported to the utmost.

Comment of representative members of both houses: Senator Majority Leader Robinson: "I think the president has justified by the wisdom and discretion of his actions, the power given him by congress."

State Minority Leader McNary: "It seems to me that we have purchased the semblance of prosperity at an enormous cost."

Senator Coughlin, Rep., Mich.: "I endorse the president's reference to the need of readjusting the machinery of government. Being an optimist, I feel that in the next six months experiments will show that these adjustments have been made."

Senator Norris, Rep., Neb.: "I am in entire sympathy with what the president is trying to do. I am not always in agreement with the program. But I believe that his program affords the only hope I can see for the American people."

Senator Borah, Rep., Ida.: "The new deal has abolished child labor."

Senator Patterson, Rep., Mo.: "We cannot spend our way out of the depression nor borrow ourselves out of debt. The policy of the present administration, if continued, can have but one result, namely, disaster."

House Majority Leader Byrns: "The program is accomplishing the results hoped for. There has been a general improvement in business and agriculture."

Minority Leader Snell: "We will support the president so long as we feel his acts are for the country's good."

Chairman Steagall of the house banking and currency committee: "Of course men may differ as to turning over powers to the president but there is no doubt it is working out."

Rep. Britten, Rep., Ill.: "The people are wishing Roosevelt well while reserving their doubts for the time being."

Rep. Kahn, Rep., Calif.: "The president is more popular than parts of his program."

M'DIVANI AND BRIDE PART TO AVOID SERVICE

Process Server Foiled as Prince Leaves Train and Boards Plane

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Barbara Hutton, heiress to a $40,000,000 Woolworth Ten Cent Store fortune, was in San Francisco today, while in the great northwest, Prince Alexis Mdivani, her Russian husband, evaded a California process server.

Separation of the American heiress and the youngest of the three "marrying" Mdivani princes came while the couple sped westward in Curlet Hut, the $120,000 Hutton private car.

All was serene until the newlyweds reached Reno. There Prince Alexis learned that Harry Owen, special investigator for the Los Angeles district attorney, awaited him with a service. The district attorney, it was said, desired Alexis to testify in the coming trial of his brothers, Serge and David, charged with grand theft in connection with their Pacific Shores Oil company.

Prince Alexis reluctantly parted from his bride of eight months, and back-tracked by plane to Salt Lake. There he boarded another plane for Seattle. He landed at Portland this morning and nervously awaited the take-off to Seattle. He was successful in dodging interviewers.

The apparent plan of Prince Alexis was to evade service of the troublesome California court document and join his wealthy wife in their contemplated tour of the Orient. They have booked 113 state rooms (one-half of entire C deck) on the luxurious Japanese liner Tatsuta Maru, which sails from Los Angeles today.

The grand jury charged Lowell with 11 counts of misappropriation of funds, grand theft and payroll padding. Each count was for a petty sum ranging from $100 to $200 each.

The indictments were returned December 9 and Lowell surrendered in Santa Rosa on the night of January 4, explaining he had been away on a New Year's party. He was to have pleaded to the counts next Wednesday in a Santa Rosa court.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Fay Webb Vallee today filed suit for divorce from Rudy Vallee, radio and film crooner. The complaint was ordered sealed by the superior court.

A special order of Judge Frank C. Collier, presiding judge, provided for the sealing of the complaint, a rare occurrence in California courts.

The complaint was sealed, Judge Collier said, at the request of Ben C. Cohen, Mrs. Vallee's attorney, who told the judge he desired to have the complaint kept from the public because of the nature of the charges it contained against the orchestra leader.

Judge Collier said the complaint would remain sealed unless Vallee consented that it be opened.

CHILD KILLED, FIVE INJURED OVER WEEKEND

Two Year Old Dies Following Crash of Automobile in Orange

LIVING only three minutes after an automobile crash in Orange yesterday afternoon, Robert Mesa, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mesa, 813 North Townsend street, Los Angeles, was killed and five persons were injured as the toll of 13 wrecks in Orange county yesterday. The death of the child was the second in the county this year from accidents.

The wreck occurred at Center and Chapman streets when cars driven by Mesa and Miss Elsie Friedman, 228 South Center street, Orange, collided. The small sedan driven by Mesa overturned from the impact with Miss Friedman's heavy sedan. The accident victim was carried into the home of a physician on the corner but died as a result of internal injuries. It was said. The body was removed to the Gilgoly funeral home in Orange where an inquest will be held by Coroner Earl Abbey at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Mesa received cuts and bruises, but Mesa, Miss Friedman and Lillian and Frank Jr., other children in the Mesa car, were not hurt.

Cars Collide
Donna Mays, 32, San Diego, was slightly hurt at 1:30 yesterday afternoon when her car and a machine driven by Ira D. Munson, 34, Los Angeles, collided while passing other cars on a curve on the Coast highway near Crystal Cove.

Orange police are seeking a hit and run driver, believed to be William Schumacher of Pomona, who crashed his car into a machine driven by George Wayne Daniel, 284 North Orange street, at Main and La Verda streets last night at 9:10 o'clock. Daniel told Officers John Elstite, A. H. Westermann and Mrs. Myrtle Shaffer that Schumacher hit the rear of his car and

NAVY FLIGHT WILL START ON THURSDAY

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 8.—(UP)—The flight of six navy planes to Pearl harbor, Hawaii, will start from San Francisco Thursday, a day ahead of schedule, due to storms brewing over the Pacific, naval officials announced. The planes will leave San Diego Tuesday.

A study of weather maps by Lieutenant Commander Kneller McGinnis, in charge of squadron VP 10 which will make the flight, convinced the officers the takeoff should be Thursday.

The planes took gas at North Island today. Motors will get their final tuning today and McGinnis expects to lead the squadron into the air early Thursday.

A favorable high pressure area now rules over the Pacific along the line of flight, McGinnis said.

Death List Mounts to 43 As Another Body Recovered by Searchers

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—(UP)—An exhaustive inquiry into the cause of the heavy toll of life and property in the La Crescenta-Montrose-Glendale New Year's eve flood was launched today by Coroner Frank Nance.

The county official said he had selected a board of expert engineers, two of them out of state men and a third from California, to study the catastrophe and be prepared with expert testimony for the inquest, date of which is to be fixed this week.

Nance said he would reveal names of the engineers when the board of supervisors gave him funds for the inquiry.

Meanwhile searchers battling the mud and rocks which engulfed the hillside communities came upon the body of an unidentified woman, between 30 and 40 years of age, buried in six feet of debris.

William Tolman of Montrose was another victim who died of injuries in the General hospital. His death brought the toll to 43 known dead with a dozen still missing.

A survey of the stricken district revealed that 363 homes were destroyed by the flood and another 481 houses so badly wrecked that rebuilding was impractical.

The Los Angeles engineering council announced it would undertake an independent investigation of the cause of the disaster, and of flood control measures to prevent such future occurrences.

Schools in the La Crescenta area were reopened today, and for the first time the stricken zone was opened to traffic. Practically all major highways had been cleared of debris, while workers turned their attention to attacking huge mounds of accumulated rubbish along the banks of Verdugo creek.

The county lifeguard service announced that lifeguards from the Santa Monica-Venice district had rescued 1500 persons from their flooded homes in the Venice district during the height of the catastrophe.

Underhill died in the prison Saturday night of bullet wounds suffered a week earlier when officers captured him at Shawnee.

The mother criticized officers for moving Underhill from Shawnee to the prison a few hours before his death. She said the move hastened his death.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY DEAN CREATES STIR BY STATING IMMORTALITY UNPROVABLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Some clergymen were shocked today by an address by Dr. Howard Lee McBain, dean of the graduate faculties of Columbia University, on the "unprovability" of immortality. Dr. McBain delivered the address at the university's annual service in St. Paul chapel, in memory of members who have died in the last year.

Dr. McBain rejected the belief in immortality as unacceptable to the mind of the common man. Summarizing the traditional "authorities"—dogmas of the Christian and speculations of the ancient philosophers—he concluded that the fact of an after-life was wholly unproved.

"I speak as a common man," Dr. McBain said. "And I think that for the common man much that has been written may be dismissed as irrelevant to his interests and his spiritual necessities." According to Dr. McBain, the only concept of immortality in which the common man is interested is the survival of his soul. Bodily immortality he held as small comfort in the light of knowledge that after death the physical body disintegrated into its component elements.

The thoughtful man knows, he went on, that "despite the persistence of his physical appearance and his personality during his earthly life, these elements of matter have been constantly changing. He cannot believe that they are likely to reassemble at any future time. The doctrine of the resurrection of the natural body may command our emotions because all that we know of ourselves is so closely connected with the bodies we carry, or should I say, that carry us."

ABANDON PLANS DEFUNCT PARIS TO USE FUNDS BANK OFFICIAL IN SLUM WORK ENDS HIS LIFE

Decision Expected to Block Many Housing Loan Projects, Reported

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Use of federal funds for slum clearance and housing projects in general has been abandoned as a major part of the Roosevelt recovery program, the United Press was authoritatively informed today.

Lack of a suitable plan caused this rather abrupt change in administration policy. It is expected to block many of the housing loan projects which now have Secretary of the Interior Ickes' tentative approval. The PWA so far has allocated $148,000,000 for low cost housing and slum clearance projects. Approximately $48,000,000 has been allocated to limited dividend corporations established under state laws. The remainder is earmarked for the federal housing corporation. Very little money actually has gone out.

Problems of transportation, rentals, and an existing surplus of suburban housing are understood to have discouraged the administration from diversion of tremendous sums to such works. Bond up in the question appears to be a new point of dispute between the new deal and the "brown derby."

Governor Alfred E. Smith is one of the foremost advocates of slum clearance. Twenty-six days after the Roosevelt administration took office last March, Smith appeared before the RFC and forced approval of an $8,075,000 loan for slum clearance on the lower East Side.

J. L. Harrington, a board member, was doubtful owing to the requirements that such a loan be self-liquidating.

"The costs are so much greater," Harrington told Smith, "that it is apparent a different group will have to occupy these houses, after they are built."

INQUIRY INTO CWA CHARGES LAUNCHED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 8.—(UP)—Under instructions from Governor Rolph, Timothy A. Reardon, state director of industrial relations, today was to open an inquiry into reports that friends of the San Francisco city administration have attempted to use civil and public works administration jobs to meet political obligations.

In instructing Reardon to make an investigation, Rolph said that the bandit's mother, Mrs. Almire Underhill of Kansas City, accompanied the body here from the Oklahoma state prison at McAlester.

Underhill died in the prison Saturday night of bullet wounds suffered a week earlier when officers captured him at Shawnee.

The mother criticized officers for moving Underhill from Shawnee to the prison a few hours before his death. She said the move hastened his death.

MAN IS SHOT IN LEGS ON RAITT RANCH

Two Alleged Pickets Placed in Jail Here, Accused of Violating Ordinance

THREATS ARE HEARD

Habeas Corpus Proceedings Started to Gain Freedom for Arrested Men

VIOLENCE flared in Orange county today as a result of the milkers' strike called throughout Southern California.

Lawrence Palmer, 31, Los Angeles milkman and alleged picket, was shot in the legs and hand with buckshot fired, officers said, by Ted Wakeman, son of Ernest Wakeman, manager of Raitt's dairy ranch on West Seventeenth street, about a o'clock this morning, after he is said to have refused to leave the premises after talking to workers.

Palmer was treated for his wounds at the Orange county hospital, and with his companion, Andy Swierstra, 23, another Los Angeles milkman, was lodged in the county jail by sheriff's officers, who booked them for violation of the Orange county ordinance against loitering or picketing. Undersheriff Charles W. Riddle said today that no action is contemplated against Wakeman for the shooting.

Sheriff's officers received an emergency call at 2 o'clock this morning from the dairy ranch, stating that about 30 pickets were threatening milkers. When the officers arrived they found the two men, seated in a parked automobile along the highway. Another man, alleged to be a picket, Bill Pickham, is said to have escaped.

Assured Protection
Milkers on duty were afraid to go back to work as a result of the threats, officers said, but resumed milking when assured of protection.

But two walkouts were reported as a result of the strike called in Orange county, these being at the Thompson and Main ranch and the Bixby ranch at Los Alamitos Saturday afternoon.

The men arrested were reported to have visited the Segerstrom dairy ranch at Paulding before going to Raitt's ranch. Signs stating "This dairy on strike, do not milk" were confiscated by sheriff's officers, who answered the emergency call. Other literature, aimed at "Capitalists," "bosses," etc., according to sheriff's officers, was found. The literature outlined procedure in case strikers were arrested, and termed the strike a "class fight."

Four cars were sent out by Sheriff Logan Jackson to the Raitt ranch, with 14 deputies, and about 50 special deputies were on duty in addition to the regular force at the sheriff's office. Officers who answered the emergency call included Roy Ballard, Herman Drent, Neil Kurtz, Hunter Leach, Richard Cowan, Sam Snodgrass, Steve Duhart, M. E. Meeks, Ives Brown, Charles Westgate, Andy Anderson, Art Williams, A. J. Parker and G. F. McKelvey. The farm detail was called out by radio.

CHICAGO'S SUPPLY OF MILK CUT OFF

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Chicago's milk supply was cut off today by farmer pickets who halted trains, blocked highways and wrecked trucks attempting to run the blockade set up to enforce a strike called by the Pure Milk association.

All deliveries of milk, excepting to hospitals and babies, ceased. The supply on hand when the strike was called Saturday by 15,000 members of the association, was melted out in small quantities at emergency stations.

Attempts to ship milk through the blockade resulted in a sharp battle between deputy sheriffs and 300 pickets who halted a Chicago bound milk train at Sturtevant. The officers repulsed the pickets with tear gas bombs after a hand-to-hand skirmish.

GUARDIA TAKES RAP AT GOVERNOR

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, refusing to accept gubernatorial disapproval as a death warrant for his emergency economy bill, injected a charge of politics today into his renewed fight to save the city from "financial chaos."

In a stinging reply to Gov. Herbert H. Lehman's denunciation of the LaGuardia plan as "unnecessary" to refill the city's almost empty coffers, the fusion mayor charged the Democratic state executive has been instrumental in creating the existing "banking dictatorship" which holds control of city tax collections during the next three years.

The grand jury charged Lowell with 11 counts of misappropriation of funds, grand theft and payroll padding. Each count was for a petty sum ranging from $100 to $200 each.

The indictments were returned December 9 and Lowell surrendered in Santa Rosa on the night of January 4, explaining he had been away on a New Year's party. He was to have pleaded to the counts next Wednesday in a Santa Rosa court.

SOVIET AMBASSADOR CALLS ON PHILLIPS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Setting a precedent for speed in diplomatic procedure here, Alexander Troianovsky, new Soviet ambassador to the United States, called upon Acting Secretary of State Phillips at 11 a. m. today, less than 24 hours after his arrival in Washington.

The stocky Russian, paying the first official call of any Soviet ambassador in the United States, went to the state department faultlessly clad in silk top hat, cut-away morning coat and striped trousers. He was accompanied by Boris Skvirsky, charge d'affaires of the Soviet embassy since the recent establishment of diplomatic relations between the Soviet union and the United States after a break of 16 years.

BACKS GIVES INFORMATION ON CITY ELECTIONS

With all cities of the sixth class in Orange county, which means all municipalities with the exception of Santa Ana, scheduled to hold elections April 8, County Clerk J. M. Backs today released information for the benefit of voters.

All the cities of the sixth class will elect trustees and treasurers. In Orange, Anaheim and Tustin clerks will be elected.

Backs said that the first day for circulation of nominating petitions by candidates is February 8. They must be filed with the city clerk in the municipality in which the candidates seek office not later than March 26 at noon.

The great register closes for registration and transfer of voters for the municipal elections on February 28.

While the matter of keeping the polls open rests largely with the city councils, Backs said the law requires they be kept open at least eight consecutive hours. He said that unless otherwise specified by the various city councils the polls will be kept open from 6 a. m. until 7 p. m. the same hours as observed for general and county elections.

Absent voter ballots will not be obtainable until March 26 and cannot be secured after April 4. They must be voted on or before April 9 and in the hands of the city clerk not later than April 15, regulations provide.

BEVERLY HILLS, Jan. 8. (To the Editor of The Register.) Poor old France and Japan are about in the same fix. France don't know whether it would be better to jump on Germany and lick 'em now while they can, or "will I sit here and wait till they are ready to pounce on me."

This thing of living in an ambitious nation is not what it's cracked up to be. We are certainly glad Mr. Roosevelt announced that we had about all the country we wanted; in fact he suggested that if we could get a decent offer he would let some of it go.

ONE MAN SHOT; TWO ARRESTED DURING STRIKE

Threatening notes were found on the door of the home of an Excelsior milk truck driver who drives a truck to Santa Ana from the company ranch at Prado. The driver, who lives in Norco, was warned not to drive the truck any more. Officers from the Riverside sheriff's office were called to the Excelsior ranch, where pickets were intimidating milkers during the early morning hours today and a guard was left until the trouble was settled. The milk truck came into Orange county without trouble today in spite of threats. A. L. Christie, secretary of the Orange County Milk Producers' association, said:

Attorneys for the International Labor Defense moved swiftly in Orange county today to attempt to secure freedom for two men, John Cosgrove, 28, and Ward Jamison, 28, Los Alamitos milkers, who were arrested by sheriff's officers Saturday in connection with the walkouts at Los Alamitos.

J. Allan Frankel, Los Angeles attorney representing the International Labor Defense, who he said is organized to protect workers who get into trouble in labor disputes, today secured an order from Superior Judge H. G. Ames for a writ of habeas corpus for the two prisoners. Hearing on the writ was set for January 10 at 9:30 a. m.

In the petition for the writ, Frankel alleged that Jamison and Cosgrove have been kept in the county jail separately, under excessive bail of $1500, and while they were arrested Saturday, no complaint had been filed against them today and they had not been arraigned. He said the men are held under subdivision J, Section 602 of the state penal code, a simple misdemeanor. He declared that the men are entitled to an immediate trial and that Sheriff Jackson and Undersheriff Charles W. Riggie said they would arraign the prisoners at their "convenience."

Frankel said milkers are striking here for $65 a month and board, with one day a week off. They now receive $50, he said, and have to work seven days a week, from 12:30 a. m. to 6 a. m. and from 12:30 p. m. to 6 p. m. Most of them milk 30 cows, he said.

Santa Ana police officers were called to investigate a mysterious car standing on Flower street last night at 7:30 o'clock, and found Deputy Sheriff John Ryan, who said he was guarding Sheriff Logan Jackson's home at 1901 North Flower street. Sheriff Jackson explained today that he did not want his wife to be occasioned any fear as a result of the trouble with strikers and pickets, and had ordered the guard out for that purpose.

JANUARY CWA EXPENDITURES IN ORANGE COUNTY TOTAL $375,000; MOST FOR LABOR

According to a report sent to CWA headquarters in San Francisco today the administration will spend approximately $375,000 in Orange county during January. Robert Ramsey, CWA director here, said this morning that it would be impossible to give an accurate figure as to expenditures for the month.

Of the amount reported as the tentative expenditure here it was pointed out that $250,000 is slated as a direct labor expenditure. The remaining $125,000 will go for materials. Ramsey said that the entire amount would be spent almost entirely on new projects of constructive nature in the various communities.

There were 13 new projects started today in the various cities and in the county and others are scheduled for approval by the CWA committee during the week.

Payroll for last week was distributed this morning to the workers when they appeared for work and amounted to $43,728.02 which went to 2641 persons. This amount is slightly under the average payroll which approximates $50,000. The reason for the short payroll was the fact that workers on practically all projects lost from one to 15 hours because of rain. This lost time will be made up this week and result in next Monday's payroll being probably the largest paid here by CWA.

"I recommend it," Smith replied, and the loan was made for a block clearance between Monroe, Market, Cherry and Catherine streets on Lower Manhattan Island.

But the point raised by Harrington and scorned by Smith is "troubling high officials of the administration. They doubt that new dwellings can be provided at the $5 a room which slum tenants now pay and there is no disposition to mix humanity in the extent of providing the improved quarters at an actual loss to the government. There have arisen questions of transportation and even carfare if slum dwellers are moved to the suburbs.

"There is a lack of a suitable plan," a high authority in the administration said of the whole slum clearance and suburban housing idea. That does not mean, of course, that no money will be advanced. But fewer dollars will be expended on such projects than was expected some weeks ago.

San Francisco on next Thursday. What plan the prince will evolve to catch the Tatsura Maru was not known. Some believed he might attempt to join Princess Barbara in Honolulu. Others thought that the couple might be separated until each reaches the Orient aboard separate vessels.

No Solution
Princess Barbara could offer no solution. She simply gestured with expressive hands and smiled when newspapermen asked her how and when she would become reunited with the youngest of the ex-royal house of the Province of Georgia.

Meanwhile, Princess Barbara was a bride with a title, $40,000,000, a carload of trunks emblazoned B. H. M. (with the crown of Georgia stamped above), but no husband. The princess was inclined to discount the fact that Prince Alexis was fleeing a mere piece of paper.

"My husband left the train at Reno for business," she explained. Barbara found comfort in the presence of young James Donahue, her cousin, sometimes known as the "court jester" because he is so full of the joy of living.

Donahue took charge of things when the party including Princess Barbara, Mme. Nancy Allard, and several servants, reached here. He installed all members in suites reserved at the Mark Hopkins hotel, on famous Nob Hill.

Donahue also acted as spokesman to the press whenever Princess Barbara desired him to do so. Most of the time, however, the princess took charge herself. She said she planned to visit friends in San Francisco and in fashionable suburbs on the nearby peninsula.

ZAISER RITES TO BE HELD IN S. A. TUESDAY

Mrs. Margaret Anna Zaiser, 54, a resident of Santa Ana for the past 18 years died yesterday at her home, 223 Orange avenue.

Born March 6, 1840, in Burlington, Iowa, Margaret Anna Funkhouser, the daughter of a family that pioneered in the Indian country when there were very few white families west of the Mississippi river. She was married to John Zaiser in 1860, and they lived in Burlington for many years and Mr. Zaiser's death occurred there on June 16, 1906. In 1916 Mrs. Zaiser and her daughters, the Misses Laura and Esther M. Zaiser, came to Santa Ana where sons of the family circle had preceded them and where they have made their home ever since at the Orange avenue address.

Of her eight children, two sons have preceded her in death, both of them well known in this community. Dr. Albert C. Zaiser, one of the leading physicians of Santa Ana, died on Easter Sunday eight years ago. The Rev. Father A. J. Zaiser died in Fort Madison exactly 10 years to a day before his mother's passing.

Surviving children are Miss Laura Zaiser of the home, Fred H. Zaiser of this city; Mrs. Lillian Schaff of Los Angeles, Esther M. Zaiser, Adam F. Zaiser and Dr. Harry E. Zaiser, all of this city. She leaves also seven grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, and two brothers and two sisters, Charles F. and Adam F. Zaiser and Mrs. Regina Hertler of Burlington, and Mrs. Louisa Miller of Arcadia, Calif.

Funeral services tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock will be conducted in the Winbiger Funeral home by the Rev. George A. Warner, pastor of First M. E. church. Entombment will be in mausoleum at Fairhaven cemetery until later in the year when the remains will be sent to Burlington for burial in the family lot.

Vet Drive Against Economy Bill To Open On Tuesday

Legislation having for its objective the repeal or modification of the so-called Veterans Economy Act, passed last March by congress at the behest of the National Economy League, will be sought by the Veterans Voters League, a national political organization with headquarters in New York, it was announced today by Charles E. Dixon, past department commander of the United Spanish War Veterans.

In this connection, Dixon added that an organization meeting of a local district unit of the league will be held Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Andrews, Long Beach, were injured in an automobile accident at Thirty-Eighth and Ocean boulevards in Huntington Beach yesterday afternoon. It was reported to police.

Andrews, prominent real estate broker and oil promoter, suffered a broken knee cap and Mrs. Andrews, a former resident of Huntington Beach, suffered cuts on the face. Both were taken to a Long Beach hospital after emergency treatment by a physician.

No one was hurt in a wreck on Newport boulevard at Fifteenth street yesterday morning when cars driven by James N. Casady 61, Los Angeles and Albert R. Handlet, 29, Costa Mesa, collided.

Lewis Coxe, 53, San Diego, former commander of the U. S. S. Salt Lake, was arrested for failure to make a bovard stop at The Archers at noon yesterday after his car drove through the intersection with the signals against him and hit a car driven by James M. $2,581.783 IS COLLECTED IN FIRST PERIOD

With $4,269,757.96 listed as the total charge against him for collection this year, County Tax Collector John Lamb announced today that when he turned the delinquent lists over to the county auditor for the first installment on December 5, $2,581.783 per cent of the total amount had been paid.

This was due to the fact that many property owners paid their entire tax bill at the time for payment of the first installment, the official said. The actual amount collected in cash during the period prior to December 5, after which the first payment went delinquent, amounted to $2,581,783.08.

While more than half the amount due for the entire year was collected during payment of the first installment, it was explained that this fact did not mean there was no first installment delinquency. There was actually a delinquency of 11.71 per cent on first installment payments turned over to County Auditor William Lambert for collection.

The tax collector said that the number of property owners who paid both installments was responsible for making up the difference between the first half installment and the amount paid.

The tax collector said that the heavy first installment payment was indicative that the total amount of unpaid taxes at the end of the year would be slight. He pointed out that generally the greatest delinquency is noted on first half installments.

LABOR COUNTS INSTRUCTIONS PUT 9 IN JAIL GIVEN LEADERS OVER WEEK END OF CWA WORK

Arrests on liquor violations placed nine men in the county jail over the week end, with three being charged with drunken driving and six for intoxication. Leonard Patrick, 23, R. D. 1, Box 284, Santa Ana, crashed into two automobiles before being arrested for driving while intoxicated at 11:10 last night, according to police reports. His car first hit a machine driven by Parquell Padilla, San Onofre and then a car driven by Mrs. Imogene Ashman, Santa Ana Telephone company employee, at First and Cypress streets. Officers Harry Prichard and C. E. Neer took Patrick to the Orange County hospital for treatment of cuts about the face and then booked him at the county jail. When examined by a physician, he was too drunk to walk and was pronounced very intoxicated, reports said.

Jack Dalley, 21, 714 West Commonwealth avenue, Fullerton, was booked at the jail for drunken driving at 12:50 a. m. today by California Highway Patrolman Vernon Barnhill. Dalley was arrested on West Commonwealth street and then booked him at the county jail. When examined by a physician, he was too drunk to walk and was pronounced very intoxicated, reports said.

Dan Sheeray, 24, First and Main streets, was arrested for drunkenness at 314 North Main street Saturday evening. He posted bail of $25 and will appear in police court on January 13 at 10 a. m.

Elliott. Calvillo was sent home for drunkenness and fighting but reappeared 30 minutes later and was taken to the jail.

Officer Grouard arrested G. Hones, 30, of Santa Ana, for drunkenness at 2:40 a. m. yesterday. He posted a $25 bond to secure his release from jail and was slated to appear in police court this afternoon.

Charles Daugherty, 55, Buena Park, was arrested at 4:30 a. m. Sunday near his home by Deputy Sheriff Steve Duham and booked for drunkenness at the jail.

Filberto R. Mantana, 38, Placentia, was booked for drunkenness last night by Officer Horace Lucy of Placentia.

Answering questions and explaining the operation of the CWA program in Orange county, Director Robert Ramsey held a meeting of nearly 200 foremen, timekeepers, "strawbosses" and officials of the CWA in the courthouse Saturday afternoon.

Ramsey introduced his chiefs of staff and answered questions from the floor. One of the principal topics was the need for increasing the quota of workers for Orange county so that skilled workers could be assigned to projects. Mayors and CWA heads were asked to continue their efforts to have state officials raise the quota.

Details of making up time and receiving pay checks were outlined, and it was explained if a day is lost, it should be made up on Saturday, while if less than a full day, extra time should be added to several days.

Paychecks must be delivered by the paymaster to the worker personally, it was emphasized, and if a worker is sick, he was advised to send an affidavit to the office and the check would be delivered by a messenger.

Starting next week, foremen will be given detailed instructions as to the duties of each project and materials and labor may not be expended on anything else, it was said.

WATER BOARD TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Members of the Orange County Water District board of directors will hold a regular monthly meeting Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce offices. It was announced today by C. A. Palmer, secretary.

Routine business matters will occupy the board at the monthly session, Palmer said. Discussion is expected to ensue on the amount of water wasted in Orange county during the recent flood, which could have been saved if the proper control dams and spreading works had been constructed.

Withdrawing his plea of not guilty to a charge of manslaughter, C. W. Lipscombe, driver of the automobile that killed Bradford Todd October 25, appeared before Superior Judge G. K. Scofield this morning and pleaded guilty. He asked for probation and will have the hearing on his application January 19.

Lipscombe was arrested following an accident on the old Garden Grove road two miles north of Seventeenth street when his car struck Todd and Mrs. Pearl Sage who were walking along the highway. Todd was almost instantly killed and the woman so severely injured that she was removed immediately to the county hospital.

California Highway Patrolman Dan Adams arrested Lipscombe and booked him at the county jail on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Later this charge was changed to manslaughter.

According to doctors who examined him and who testified at his preliminary hearing, Lipscombe was drunk at the time of his arrest.

Foremen were told to use their discretion in sending injured men to physicians and urged to use first aid and home remedies where possible.

R. E. Ewing of Anaheim, member of the CWA citizens committee, spoke briefly and urged workers or heads with problems to appear before the board.

Ramsey concluded the meeting with a prediction that the CWA program would be continued beyond February 15, and praised Byron Curry, former director of the CWA.

OIL WELL SUITS CONTINUED TO JANUARY 22

Scheduled to go on trial this morning five cases filed by the state of California against the Wilshire Oil company and one against the Ambassador Petroleum company were continued until January 22, the date set for hearings against the Termo Oil company in cases not yet settled.

All the cases allege the defendant oil companies have "whippedstocked" wells on the landward side of Ocean avenue to such an angle that they extend under the ocean and are tapping the oil pool under the state owned tidelands. The state is asking in its suits that the companies be enjoined from taking oil from the pool and make restitution for all that has been taken.

Continuance of the six cases which were scheduled for hearing before Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine of San Diego is held indicative that the state hopes to reach a compromise settlement with the Wilshire Oil company and the Ambassador Petroleum company on a royalty basis.

Last week Judge Turrentine issued an order for survey of three wells of the Termo group after E. E. Combs, vice president of that company virtually admitted that the well had been "whippedstocked." Action on requests for similar orders against Wilshire and Ambassador wells is expected to be settled at the postponed hearing date.

"OUR ENGLISH HERITAGE" IS ROMAN TOPIC

"Our English Heritage," will be the title of a lecture to be given by Dr. Frederick W. Roman at the Temple theater, Third and Bush streets, at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow.

This lecture is one of a series which have been reviewing the sources of democracy and liberties. Dr. Roman has spoken of the influence of Germany and of France in molding democratic and economic ideals of the United States and will discuss the English heritage as perhaps the strongest and furthest reaching of all hereditary backgrounds.

According to Dr. Roman, the United States is more indebted to the "Mother Country" of England which gave us the original impulse than to the many other racial contributions to the melting pot of races, ideals, economic and political theories.

A news review of outstanding trends in world events will feature the first hour of the evening. The meeting is free to the public.

SAN DIEGO HITS AT DRUNKEN DRIVERS

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 8.—Alarmed by an increase in drunk-driver charges over the same period last year, Chief of Police Peterson has ordered all traffic officers to look for tipsy drivers on a felony charge when they are arrested in connection with serious accidents.

Previously such drivers were tried on a misdemeanor charge and often escaped with light sentence, Peterson said. Records for the first month of repeal show that sixty-three drivers have been arrested in a drunken condition, compared with a total of fifty-two such arrests during the same period last year.

NEW CADILLAC, LASALLE CARS GIVEN SHOWING

A completely new and graceful interpretation of aerodynamics and streamlining as applied to body lines, and revolutionary changes in chassis design featured by "knee-action" front wheels to provide what is claimed as a new standard of riding comfort characterized by the new lines of 1934 Cadillac and La Salle cars.

The cars were shown today by O. A. Haan, dealer for Santa Ana, at Myrtle and Main streets.

Through the development of an entirely new principle of weight distribution, and the adoption of a new and wholly different frame and front wheel spring construction and suspension, a new glide or flat ride has been achieved in both cars.

The Cadillac V-8 is presented on three wheel bases, 128, 135 and 146 inches, the V-12 a 146 inch wheel base, and the custom-built V-16 on a 154 inch wheel base. The V-8 has Fisher bodies, with Fleetwood optional, while the V-12 and V-16 have bodies by Fleetwood in the most complete range of body styles and colors ever presented by Cadillac.

The V-16 Cadillac line is continued as a specialized customized line with production limited to 400 cars for the year 1934. All three Cadillac cars have the improved Fisher no-draft ventilators.

The new front suspension—"knee action"—is one of the embodiments of the Cadillac principle of riding comfort. In combination with the new steering mechanism it is largely responsible for the improved ease of control. There is no front axle. Each wheel is secured to the frame by parallel upper and lower forked arms.

The La Salle is a brand new car — re-designed from bumper to bumper to incorporate Cadillac conception of aerodynamic body lines and the new principles of chassis design, weight distribution and spring suspension that, in combination, provide a new standard of riding comfort.

Interior finish and appointments compare with those of the finest Cadillac; the same materials are used, and the same high standards of workmanship and design are maintained.

The LaSalle are presented in four body styles: the five passenger sedan, the five passenger club sedan, the two passenger coupe and the two passenger convertible coupe.

EVANGELIST OF 'GODLINESS IS PROFITABLE' IS STOCKTON PAYS CHURCH VISIT

Rev. Edward J. Axup, evangelist of Stockton, Calif., who is holding meetings for the Alliance in Fullerton preached for the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Santa Ana yesterday morning. He took for his text, Hebrews 13:10, "We have an altar, whereof they have no right to eat who serve the tabernacle." He talked largely on the word "altar" and referred to the Old Testament altar which stood between the gate of the court and the door of the old Jewish tabernacle. He called attention to the four horns on this altar, one on each corner and showed by scripture that these horns indicate power.

He then proceeded to prove the Alliance message of the Four Fold Gospel. The one horn, the speaker claimed, representing Christ as our Saviour, quoting Psa. 13:2: "The Lord is the horn of my salvation"; or the power of my salvation. He here showed how there is sufficient power in the atonement of Christ to save the most sinful of men. The second horn represented the cleansing or sanctifying power of Christ. Referring to Paul's writing Rom. twelfth chapter he again quoted, "I beseech you therefore brethren by the mercies of God that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service." At this place the evangelist dwelt on the use made of the horns on the altar: stating that they were used to rope the sacrifice to the altar while it was being offered unto God. This he claimed is significant and refers to power necessary to keep our sacrifice on the altar until it is accepted of God.

The third horn is symbolic of the healing power of the atonement. Here the speaker gave his own experience. Said he raised a large family and they have not needed the services of a physician during the entire time; but that they fully trust Christ as their physician, and He never failed them. The fourth horn represents he proclaimed, the second coming of Christ. He then quoted from Acts 1:11, "Ye men of Galilee why stand ye here gazing up into heaven? this same Jesus which is taken up from you into heaven shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven." Mr. Axup here claimed this scripture will soon be fulfilled and Christ in power will reign on earth and righteousness shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

The Rev. J. W. Bates, pastor of the Walnut Street Church of Christ spoke yesterday on the sermon subject "Godliness is Profitable." He said in part:

"I saw a picture one day entitled 'Christ or Diana.' The artist had depicted a scene common to the stirring days of the Christian persecution in old Rome. There was the stern tribunal and the the litors, with the badge of their office, and behind the court of iniquity was a statue of Diana, a heathen goddess. Before them was a trembling girl, accused of being a Christian. Diana or Christ—popularity or the lions? The lone Christ stood spotless amidst the lusty, adulterous practices of pagan Rome. The ages roll on, but the principle never changes, and the combat is always renewed—purity and godliness vs. lasciviousness and lust."

"In I Tim. 4:8, Paul said, 'Godliness is profitable.' If men and women believed this, they would invest in Christianity, for all respond to the call of profit. Our well-being and happiness is the goal of all. You engage in your work, and have founded your home in the hope that some stray beam of happiness may fill your efforts with splendor, and your life with serenity and content."

"Life here is nothing more or less than a quest for happiness." "The owner of a large firm in this city recently said to me: 'If I were to start out tomorrow to liberally add $5 more to the company's receipts and bore that desire constantly in mind while waiting on every customer, I would fail, but if I lose myself in my work, it would come as a natural result.'"

"Just so happiness is the by-product of righteousness and never comes to him who is simply and solely in pleasure bent."

"It is said that one of Mr. Lincoln's favorite quotations was, 'What shadows we are and what shadows we pursue.' There are those who have sucked the strange-justices of life who can attest that pleasure-seeking is not pleasure-giving. But godliness is profitable, for 'treasures and wickedness profit nothing, but righteousness delivereth from death.' (Prov. 10:2.)"

"John Stuart Mills once said, 'I would give all that I have and all that I ever become, just for one hour of the day when I used to look up at the sky and called it heaven.' Voltaire could pray the legendary prayer, 'O God, if there be a God, have mercy upon my soul,' but Christianity teaches a calm acceptance of the future; the value of ideals, and happiness to be the result of serving and right living. Truly godliness is profitable."

Outlining the duties of elders and deacons in the church, the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan preached on the topic "The Church and Her Servants" at the morning service at the First Christian church yesterday morning as the newly elected church officers were installed at an impressive service.

In a prelude to the sermon in which he urged the board members to consecrate themselves to the work of the church, the pastor asserted that those who do not turn to God and serve Him must go to the devil. "There is no halfway status," he declared. "You either work for God or the devil."

In speaking of the church and its position the pastor quoted the words of Jesus, "I will build my church on this rock and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it."

"What is the meaning of the word usually translated 'church' in the New Testament?" he asked. "It is an assembly called out for a special purpose. It means a body of men and women, believers, who have sworn allegiance to Jesus, who are separated from unholy things to the holy work of Jesus."

"What is the chief distinction of the word 'church'? It designates all believers in the world.

"Christ gave Himself up to serve the church. That is what you as officers are to do. Become children of God—serve Him and the church. Jesus charged us—'Go, make disciples.' That is your work. The world needs Christ and is being lost without Him. You can get wisdom and guidance from Jesus. 'How was the first church that was organized governed? By elders and deacons, Paul tells us. The elders' business is to look after the spirituality of the church and its members. It is the deacons' business to care for the material wants of the congregation, to look after the property, to raise funds, to carry the message to the rest of the world.

"The purpose of the church is to glorify God, overcome sin and attain perfection and purity, to educate its membership to deeper spirituality, Christian fellowship and the need of regular attendance."

SIX DIVORCE DECREEES ARE GRANTED HERE

Six interlocutory decrees of divorce have been granted in the superior court following hearings before the three superior court judges. Four of the decrees were granted by Presiding Judge H. G. Ames, Judge James L. Allen and Judge C. K. Scovel granting one each.

Judge Allen granted an interlocutory decree to Mrs. Florence Brown when she testified that her husband, Russell Brown, was unreasonably jealous of her, was rude to her friends. The Browns were married September 26, 1933, and separated November 18, the same year.

H. Ralph Rice was given an interlocutory decree of divorce from Mrs. Frances Rice on his testimony that she accused him of associating with other women quarreled and nagged at him until they were evicted from their apartment. He also charged that his wife compared him unfavorably before others with a former husband, and drank liquor to excess. The Rices were married September 7, 1931, and separated November 5, last.

Mrs. Nellie Sterling was given an interlocutory decree from Christopher Sterling, whom she accused before Judge Ames of being quarrelsome, abusive and habitually intoxicated. She said that her husband called her vile names, choked and beat her, and on one occasion struck her on the head with a hammer. They were married January 11, 1930, and separated December 4, last.

Judge Ames also granted Mrs. Laura May Kelly an interlocutory decree from Martin Kelly on grounds of desertion. The Kellys were married February 1, 1888, and separated January 16, 1928.

Mrs. Beatrice Greenleaf was given a decree by Judge Ames when she testified that her husband, Robert Greenleaf, did not pay his bills, spent money on himself but refused to spend any on her or their home, and declined to discuss business affairs with her. She said that on one occasion he sold a piece of property that was his separate holding, and it was months before she knew of it. They were married September 21, 1921, and separated December 15, last.

Mrs. Dorothy Matlock told Judge Ames that her husband, James Matlock, accused her of infidelity, alleging that she made trips to the beach to see another man, and said that she was not fit to care for their child. He also was accused of coming to the office where she was employed, and objected to her speaking to men with whom she worked. His actions, she said, made it necessary for her to quit her position. The Matlocks were married September 18, 1918, and separated December 1, 1932. She was granted an interlocutory decree.

MAYOR HURTS BACK

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 8.—Mayor Frank B. Champion admitted today that he isn't quite as young as he used to be. Going in to park in a lane in front of a store on Coast boulevard, near Laguna Avenue, he slid the bumper of his car over that of another machine. Getting out of his own vehicle, the mayor succeeded in lifting the bumper so the other car could be backed out, but in doing so he wrenched his back. He was laid up in his home at 568 Coast Boulevard North Saturday and Sunday, but was feeling much better today.

WEEK OF PRAYER LAUNCHED WITH BISHOP I. D. WARNER DISCUSSING MORAL CRISIS

Santa Ana's annual Week of Prayer opened last night with a union service at the First Methodist church at which Bishop Ira D. Warner of Portland, Oregon, who will lead the services, occupied the pulpit and delivered the sermon.

Speaking on the subject "Face to Face With the Moral Crisis," he declared, "If history of the American people were written just now, it would read grimly like this: 'They chew gum, read things you see on the news stands; they are 14 years old by intelligence tests; they prefer jazz to music; talkies to literature. Their world is a world of debauchery, mediocrity, chic and moral collapse.'"

"The mercenary, materialistic and militaristic elements have precedence over the moral and spiritual. When you add them all together and send the American people to the polls, we are supposed to have a democracy which someone has recently said 'is government by them that don't know.' The fact of the matter is that government in America has failed and we have had to resort to the greatest dictatorship in the world."

"Truly as Aristophanes said, 'Whirl is King—having driven out God.' If such a statement was true in ancient days how much more true is it today in our age of multiplied accessories, in our age of materialistic emphasis."

"But we have something in our moral world more modern and more critical in its downfall, and that is a national campaign to persuade the citizens of our country to consume liquor for political purposes. No civilized country in modern times had ever embarked upon a scheme of precisely this sort and such magnificent implications of this move. Think of the first lady of our fair land encouraging drinking as a social custom! Think of the president's official family becoming the arch-lobby for liquor! Think of going to a movie to find a member of the president's official family standing before a microphone broadcasting misrepresentation against liquor and ballyhooing alleged benefits of beer! Think of a congress swept from its feet and the moral stand from which it has now fallen."

Advertising Liquor
"The liquor interests just now are making preparations on a large scale to engage in a nationwide advertising campaign to create a market. Printers' Ink, a journal for the newspaper craft, in a recent article encouraged the newspapers saying that the brewers will spend thirteen million dollars during the first year that prohibition is repealed. Broadcast-ing a trade journal of commercial radio stations recently called upon stations to get ready for the advent of beer advertising. Brewing industry which specializes in the field of college publications recently offered the industry their services to create a demand for beer among college students that will restore beer among its former favor on the campuses of America."

DEMPEY IN?
Grapevine commentators, by whom I mean those people who know a great many things about anything that is not their own business, have been again recently with a fresh morsel of gossip. The story is that Jack Dempsey is about to move into Madison Square Garden as matchmaker. It has come from so many sources lately that it is being passed along to you for what it is worth.

THOSE FINANCES
The Garden put on a heavy-weight boxing show recently between Walter Nussel and Ray Imbottiere. It was both an artistic and financial flop. A generous estimator saw 4000 people in the house and what they watched was not worth the candle. The program presented Nussel, causing the impossible Imbottiere from pillar to post, and observers say it was not pleasant to watch.

During the three months ending Nov. 30, 1933, the Garden showed a net loss of $206,122. During the same three months in 1932 there was a profit of $26,011. For the six months that ended Nov. 30, 1933, the Garden showed a net loss of $206,122 against a loss of $103,122 during the same half year of '32.

These are not nice figures, and if any substantiation of the rumors of a change are needed, it probably can be found in the financial report.

THEN THERE'S BAER
Dempsey, who recently has been touring the country as part of the wrestling hippodrome, drawing crowds wherever he goes, has a rather valuable asset besides his own popular appeal. The property is Max Baer, who has promised Jack, as a pal, that he will fight for no one else.

The Garden has to have Baer before it can promote any fight in which Carnera is to be the other party—fist the Garden really wants to have customers. Much is made of Carnera's drawing power, but I do not believe any fight in which he appears will make the kind of sugar the Garden has to make to take care of the tremendous overhead such a big sports factory must maintain.

Not only has wrestling been falling off, but hockey and the concerts have failed to iron off the outs that boxing has written. One of these days the Six Hundred Millionaires are going to ask how come, and there are bound to be changes.

PAYING THE PENALTY
The severest penalty ever given a hockey player was visited upon Billy Conn. In 1927 he hit Referee Jerry LaFlamme, and was barred from the major leagues of hockey. . . now he's coaching at Providence. . . Bill Tilden will be 42 in February. . . and he will celebrate by battling Ellsworth Vines somewhere between the Atlantic and Pacific. . . that being a stretch of territory to be covered by the professionals on tour.

YOU SHOULD HEAR HIM
Bill Guthrie, dismissed last year as American league umpire, longs for further punishment. . . he hopes to be back in the loop when the 1934 season opens April 17. . . Bill's manner of calling a game out is picturesque and vociferous. You'll see a "dead bird" . . . he knows some other phrases and words not in Webster's.

LOSE 'EM
Rogers Hornsby offered John Shibe his Browns to take along on that world baseball tour next fall. . . on condition the Philadelphia magnate promised not to bring any of them back.

CALIFORNIA BEARS MEET UNITED A. C. CRESCENT TOOL 9-7 WINNER OVER S. A.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—(UP)—The University of California's basketball team returns to the court tonight after a successful week end. The Bears met the United A. C. team, the team which defeated U. S. C. at Los Angeles Saturday, 25-34.

In their own week end campaigning the Bears defeated Utah Aggies, 49-31, and University of Utah, 42-32. Stanford lost to the same teams, by scores of 46-25 and 48-24, respectively.

RUNYAN FALTERS; DUTRA PULLS AWAY

Stagg, Warner, Jones, Nixon Here Tonight

MASTER MINDS TO SALUTE DON FOOTBALL TEAM

By Eddie West
Football's master minds worship at the shrine of Santa Ana's Don tonight.

In a public banquet for the Southern California Jaycee football champions at the Junior college cafeteria, men whose very names are magical by words to the great autumnal sport assembly for an occasion rare in the city's sports history.

Never here, seldom anywhere has such a group of notables gathered for less than a meeting or game of national consequence.

Among those Stagg, dean of coaches, will be a guest. Glenn S. ("Pop") Warner will be there. So will Howard Jones and Eugene Nixon, "Cotton" Warburton, Southern California's All-American quarterback, will lead a delegation of outstanding players. These celebrities not only will be seen but also heard.

The banquet begins at 6:30. Tickets cost 50 cents and everybody with the price is welcome.

Stagg Begins "New Adventure"
The guests need little introduction to Santa Ana football fanatics. Coach Stagg, "the Great Old Man of the Midway," has just completed his first season at College of the Pacific after serving the University of Chicago more than forty years. He had much to do with the development of the forward pass.

At 70, Stagg says he is just beginning a grand new adventure. Coach Stagg, who has just completed his first season at College of the Pacific after serving the University of Chicago more than forty years. He had much to do with the development of the forward pass.

"Pop" Warner, who has contributed to football more plays of a revolutionary nature than any other, was an "added attraction" today.

The veteran Temple University mentor, formerly at Stanford, was located at San Clemente where he is vacationing with his brother, and readily consented to join the party.

Warner was first to use the direct pass from center and inaugurated the system of having defensive linemen kneel. His guards were the first to come out of the line to run interference, and his teams first to employ the famed reverse and end-around plays. The Warner system of single and double wingback, now used in every section of the country, was "Pop's" handiwork. No straddler, Coach Warner is the most outspoken of all great football leaders, and his words carry authority. This will be his first appearance before a Santa Ana audience.

Jones At Top of Heap
Howard Jones, once "Pop's" keenest rival on the coast, is well known as coach of the mighty Trojans. National champion in 1921 and 1922, "the Head Man" has produced team after team of tremendous scoring and drawing power, and he long has been identified at the top of the profession where his "power plays" also have carried Southern California.

"Genial" Gene Nixon of Pomona college for many years has been a kinsman in the Southern California conference, a bulwark of men as well as championship teams in all sports. His position as a leader is unassailable.

GRIDIRON GREATS GATHER AT SHRINE OF CHAMPION DONS

At a public banquet on the junior college campus at 6:30 p. m., Santa Ana's champion Dons and all those who have the price of a plate, 50 cents, will see and hear some of football's greatest coaches, shown below. A. A. Stagg, College of the Pacific; "Pop" Warner, Temple university; Howard Jones, Southern California, and Eugene Nixon, Pomona college, will break bread right along with Mr. John J. Fan.

Hornsby Plans To Play With Browns

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Rogers Hornsby, pilot of the St. Louis Browns, was grinding off the surplus poundage today with a six weeks' training period planned to get his legs in shape for one more season of big time baseball.

If he can make the training grade satisfactorily Hornsby said he might be at third base for the Browns this coming season.

KIPKE ALMOST SURE TO SIGN AS YALE COACH

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Harry Kipke, top hand of Big Ten football coaches, is so close to signing a Yale contract today that a scratch of the pen may be said to measure the difference.

He's so close, in fact, that Yale is believed to be ready to hire about half of his Michigan staff, including Jack Blott, Franklin Cappon and Wally Weber, in order that the young man may feel that he's among friends.

The deal, if closed, will call for a total outlay of about $25,000 in salaries, with Kipke's naturally figuring as the major item.

The authority for these statements is not necessarily mine. It's largely Yale's and if, in the light of later developments, it turns out that a mistake has been made, that will be largely Yale's, too.

It has gone pretty far with Kipke this time.

Salary Possibilities Limited
As for Kipke, it can't be that he's been peeping out from behind drawn blinds when the Yales come around to look for Michigan, which I believe operates on a salary appropriation basis, doesn't pay him enough to make seclusion fashionable.

Yael, a sophomore, replaced Walt Hendrie in the regular lineup, and did so well he probably will be stationed at forward in Santa Ana's next two games at San Diego Friday and Saturday.

Although in suit, Hendrie was not feeling well, and Coach Greene let Yael play the whole game.

Jack ("Fifi") Lusk, forward, who was largely responsible for Pasadena's win Friday, set the pace for the Bulldogs but his 8 points were offset by the scoring of Levens and Lacy.

SAINTS COME TO LIFE, DEFEAT PASADENA QUINTET, 30-20, BUT "BEES" SUFFER SECOND SETBACK

COAST PREPARATORY LEAGUE and straight basketball game from Santa Ana. . . . W. L. P. . . . Pasadena

Friday—Pasadena 28, Santa Ana 23; San Diego 26, Alhambra 12. Saturday—Santa Ana 20, Pasadena 13; Alhambra 24, San Diego 13. Long Beach-Glendale games postponed until Feb. 23-24.

This Week's Games
Friday—Santa Ana at San Diego; Long Beach at Alhambra; Glendale at Pasadena. Saturday—Santa Ana at San Diego; Alhambra at Long Beach; Pasadena at Glendale.

Coach Reese Greene's Santa Ana Saints were instilled with new spirit today, their 30-20 victory at Pasadena Saturday night placing them back in the running for Coast Preparatory League basketball honors and compensating for a 28-23 upset which Coach Bill Dunn's Bulldogs scored here Friday.

While Santa Ana and Pasadena were breaking even in their two-game series, Alhambra and San Diego were doing the same thing at San Diego, the Hillers winning 26-12 Friday and then bowing to the visiting Moors, 24-18, in Saturday's contest. The Long Beach-Glendale games were postponed until February 9 on account of flood conditions near Glendale.

Stung by their first defeat, the Saints settled down to business early in the return engagement and were leading at the intermission, 16-9. The second-half was tip-and-tuck, with Santa Ana enjoying a slight edge all the way.

Tom Lacy, competent little guard, went on a spectacular spree to earn 14 points and high scoring honors for the Saints, but he was not the only Santa Ana forward who had no shooting luck at all Friday, collected 8 points.

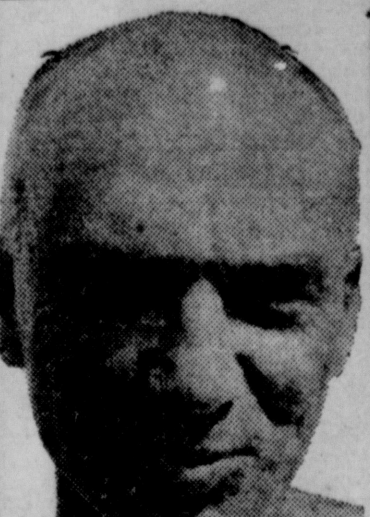

Although in suit, Hendrie was not feeling well, and Coach Greene let Yael play the whole game.

Jack ("Fifi") Lusk, forward, who was largely responsible for Pasadena's win Friday, set the pace for the Bulldogs but his 8 points were offset by the scoring of Levens and Lacy.

Two foul shots were the extent of Welmer's scoring, but the lanky Santa Ana was the offensive star of the game at center. He did the passing, allowed his teammates to do the shooting.

The game was played on Pasadena's open-air court, but the cold breezes did not appear to bother the determined Saints.

Santa Ana's varsity plays Orange in a practice game at Orange tomorrow at 8 p. m. In an effort to develop his reserves, Coach Hendrie divided his squad, and will send some of his lightweights to Orange tomorrow for a game with the Panther "Bees" at 2:30. His other team will play Garden Grove here at 3 o'clock. A week from tomorrow Cook will send one of his teams to Garden Grove, and the other will play Tustin here.

Big Ten Basket Teams In Second Games

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(INS)—All ten Western conference basketball teams swing into action again tonight for their second game of the championship race.

Iowa's unbeaten team, having decisively whipped Northwestern in the opening round Saturday, goes against Wisconsin. Wisconsin took a 20 to 17 licking from Illinois.

Other games: Chicago at Michigan; Minnesota at Northwestern; Illinois at Purdue; Ohio State at Indiana.

S. C. SCHEDULE COMPLETED FOR 1934 CAMPAIGN

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—Completion of the University of Southern California 1934 football schedule with the signing of Whittier and Occidental for an opening practice doubleheader Sept. 22 was announced today by Director of Athletics Willis Hunter.

The Trojan program for next fall now calls for games with its six main conference opponents, two inter-sectional battles, with Notre Dame being met in the Coliseum and Pittsburgh at Pittsburg, a game with Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of Pacific team and the twin bill just announced.

The Southern Californians will play on eight of their Saturdays

VINES TILDEN TOUR TO BE 60,000 MILES

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Ellsworth Vines, former National amateur tennis champion who recently turned professional, and "Big Bill" Tilden, dean of American tennis, will make an exhibition tour of the Orient this year.

Bill O'Brien, professional tennis promoter, announced that Tilden and Vines will compete in China, Japan and possibly the Philippines. O'Brien said they would receive a guarantee of $8000 for two weeks, in addition to traveling and living expenses for appearances in Japan which is keen to win the Davis Cup now held by England. Having profited in the Olympics by studying American swimming styles, the Japanese intend using the same method in tennis.

Vines and Tilden have been booked almost solid for all of 1934 and will travel 60,000 miles during the year, O'Brien said. They will make three tours of the American continent, a tour of Europe, and later go to the Orient.

Vines makes his professional debut against Tilden at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

The Bears went into the St. Mary's game as underdogs. But they came out of that tough tilt with a tie—and Stub's psychology had a lot to do with it.

S. A. Club In No Hurry To Get New Pro

The Santa Ana Country club will take no action toward acquiring a new golf professional until Dallas Jeffers' resignation is formally presented to the board of directors, according to Dr. G. C. Ross, president.

Jeffers has been recommended for a position as pro at the Long Beach municipal course in Recreation park, and the Santa Ana club will not stand in Jeffers' way in this advancement, Dr. Ross added.

RAGGED JAYSEE FIVE LOSES TO PASADENA 44-20

BY PAUL WRIGHT

Unless they show a complete reversal of form within the next two weeks, Santa Ana's Dons cannot reasonably expect to advance very far in Eastern junior college conference basketball standings this season.

Definite proof that at present they are still unprepared for their first league game with Pomona January 20 was disclosed in Pasadena Saturday night when Coach Frank Baker's Pasadena Matiffs plastered Coach Bill Cook's henchmen, 44-20, in a one-sided practice fray.

Pasadena's same lineup defeated Fullerton by only six points, 41-35, the preceding Wednesday, which goes to show that Santa Ana now ranks low in pre-season data, since Riverside and Chaffey are reported to be as strong as Coach Art Nunn's troublesome Yellowjackets. Even San Bernardino and Pomona loom as no push-overs this year. San Bernardino was strong in '33.

Regular positions have been thrown wide open as the result of Santa Ana's unimpressive performance against Pasadena. Alex Clark and Bob Schwartz, alert guards, were the only Dons who performed anywhere near satisfactorily, and their defensive work was poor.

They displayed good floorwork on offense, however, in addition to accounting for 12 of Santa Ana's points, Clark scoring 8, Schwartz 4. Peter Geddes, blond forward, led the attack for Pasadena with 20 digits. Dave McNeil, his teammate, garnered 8 points. The last plays of the visitors sent Geddes under the basket for many set-ups, and slightly bewildered Santa Ana's ragged defense.

Offensively, the Dons showed signs of life in the second half, but their defense could not check the visiting forwards, and Pasadena rolled up 21 points to Santa Ana's 13. Pasadena led 23-7 at halftime. Both coaches substituted frequently.

Following the game Coaches Cook and Baker tentatively agreed to a return contest, but no date was fixed.

The lineups:
Pasadena (44) Pos. (20) Santa Ana Geddes (20) (2) Bragg McNeil (8) (2) Prelinger Pitt (3) (2) Rittner Hallmark (1) (5) A. Clark Lynn (3) (4) Schwartz Morgan for Bragg.

Score by Halves:
Pasadena 23 21-44
Santa Ana 7 13-20

Pasadena—Van Meller for McNeil, Allen for Pitt, Schwartz for Allen, Halght for Hallmark, Rittner (5) for Halght, Williams (4) for Lynn, Kingsley (3) for Williams, Matter for Kingsley.

Santa Ana—Gunter for Bragg, Laake (4) for Gunter, B. Stoddard for Prelinger, Yonel (2) for B. Stoddard, Hurler for Yonel, Kroener for Rittner, R. Clark for A. Clark, Gunter for Schwartz, Bragg for Kroener, Morgan for Bragg.

Officials:
Bill Cole, Tustin; umpire, Stewart White, Orange, umpire.

'L. A. TRACK PERMIT TO BE VOTED'--ROTH

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Jan. 8.—(UP)—Los Angeles was virtually assured of a place in the sport of kings today when it was learned the state racing commission likely will honor the application of Hal Roach and Dr. C. H. Strub for a joint permit to operate a track next winter.

SEAVER SECOND AFTER 45 HOLES IN L. A. GOLF

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Olin Dutra, Santa Monica giant, picked up five strokes on his nearest adversary, Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., when Dutra made the turn in the third round of the Los Angeles Open golf championship in 34 while Runyan took a disastrous 39.

Dutra picked up three strokes on his nearest competitor, Charlie Seaver, Los Angeles amateur, who took a 37, two over par. Scores for the three leaders at the end of 47 holes were:

Dutra, 172; Runyan, 177; Seaver, 176.

Dutra and Runyan left the halfway mark on even terms with 138's, two strokes under par, Seaver trailing by one stroke with 139.

The "dark horse" field furnished a threat when Willie Hunter, MacDonald Smith and Johnny Rogers of Denver, all of whom were bunched closely behind the leaders, each took 34 on the outward nine, Smith's on the more difficult second nine holes.

Harry Cooper of Chicago, who had pressed the leaders at halftime, virtually dropped out of the running with a tragle 43.

Runyan's 39 resulted partly from miserable luck on the short par-four sixth, when his drive struck a tree to land in an unplayable lie, costing him a stroke to throw out. He patch was trapped and an attempt to skim the traps with a putter dribbled only a few feet and he was forced to take a six.

Johnny Revolta, Milwaukee, closest professional rival of the leading pair at the halfway post, also slipped to take a 38 going out.

S. C. CONFERENCE VOTES TO DISBAND

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—(UP)—The Southern California conference, one of the oldest collegiate athletic circuits in the West, has reached the end of the road.

Its abandonment was decreed by representatives of Caltech, Occidental, Pomona, Whittier and Redlands colleges who founded it 25 years ago. Later they added La Verne, Santa Barbara and San Diego State.

The conference will die an official death at the end of the present school term in June. Executives blamed "an increasing number of compulsory rules that have become far too unwieldy."

Members will continue annual battles which have become traditional but the engagements will not be compulsory as in years past, Dr. Remsen Bird of Occidental said.

"We will be able to form an independent bi-lateral schedule, unhampered by a maze of rules," Bird said. "Thus schools so far apart as Santa Barbara and San Diego State will not be bound to meet each other in games whose expenses do not compare favorably with gate receipts."

CURRY AND POMEROY BEST-BALL VICTORS

With a best ball card of 74-7-67, Elmer Curry and Van Pomerooy, a couple of youngsters, finished first in a tournament at the Santa Ana Country club Saturday.

Tied for second were W. W. (Boll) Foote and M. N. Thompson, 74-6-68, and E. T. Mater and Ray Chapman, 76-8-68. Three "teams" were in a deadlock for the third spot: L. D. Coffey and L. W. Bemis, 75-6-69; Ed Holmes and C. W. Jordan, 76-7-69, and R. A. Emison and R. O. Winkler, 78-9-69.

THOMAS VS. DODGE

Harry Thomas, knockout winner in his last eight starts, will meet the fast-stepping heavyweight, "Ace" Dodge, in the six-round main event tonight at Pico on East Whittier boulevard.

Deep Test Well At H. B. Being Swabbed After "Shot"

OIL TESTS 38 GRAVITY: BIG PRODUCER SEEN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 8.—The McCaslin well at Olive and Twenty-first streets, which "shot" late Saturday, is being swabbed in an effort to get it to flow. Oil men consider the outlook for a big well highly encouraging.

The bottom of the hole is 9200 feet. The "shot" was one of the biggest ever exploded in an oil well. It was claimed, there being about 350 quarts of nitro-glycerin. Ford Alexander, noted well-shooter of Southern California, set off the blast.

As soon as the well was shot it began slowly flowing water and oil and then began to put out gas and in a few minutes was flowing by strong heads, the gas steadily increasing. In two hours about 400 barrels of fluid had been flowed into the sump from the deepest producing well ever drilled in the Huntington Beach field.

The oil tests 38 gravity and the gas runs 16 gallons of gasoline to the thousand cubic feet of gas, making the well one of the most valuable ever found in the field here. While no official test is reported, the well is said to be producing paraffin base oil, the first paraffin base oil ever found in this field or in the Los Angeles basin. The oil is worth about $2 a barrel in the present market.

A. L. (Doc) Trester and W. E. McCaslin are largely responsible for the shooting of the well. The McCaslin well was drilled to 8200 feet four years ago and the sand, said to be the vaguest formation, was found to be a tight sand and would not flow. Also the well was held back while drilling in the oil sand by heavy artificial mud, which later was found to have set in the hot sands at the great depth, cementing the oil and gas out of the hole.

The shot is supposed to have broken the hard formation and released the gas and oil. With the 8200 foot column of water, it was finally decided to hurry the well in by swabbing, a method commonly in use in this and other oil fields.

Oil men say McCaslin and Trester have definitely proven the existence of a deep sand here. The sand was cored in the McCaslin well to a thickness of 1100 feet. It is considered by geologists that the heavy sand spreads over the entire Huntington Beach oil field, making every drill site on the Huntington Beach mesa of high potential oil value.

A brass tube 600 feet long was made in three-foot sections at the Heaton and Glimpse plant in this city. Each 12 feet of the long tube was made with a swivel joint between two ordinary chain links to permit the long torpedo being sent down to the bottom of the well. The well is only 2 1/2 inches in diameter and the torpedo was 2 1/2 inches in diameter, making a close fit. The well was first baled dry and then filled with water.

The torpedo, measured into the well by a sand line, touched the bottom at 8200 feet and one and a half minutes later the great heat at that depth exploded the charge. It will be two or three days before the actual success of the experiment can be fully determined.

Woman's Club To Buy Stationery

SAN CLEMENTE, Jan. 8.—Reports of a committee appointed some weeks ago to select stationery for the use of club members and residents or visitors in San Clemente were heard at a meeting of the San Clemente Woman's club executive board Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. W. Parsons, vice-president. Members of the committee were Mrs. Emma Servus, Mrs. A. T. Smith and Mrs. J. B. Lape.

The board approved their choice of stationery and authorized them to purchase a considerable quantity. It will be so inscribed as to advertise the attractive features of the village, and will be suitable for social or business purposes.

TWO 2500-BARREL OIL WELLS FLOWING AT HUNTINGTON BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 8.—The Centralia Oil company's well being drilled by the Big Boy Drilling company came in for a gusher over the week end, producing in 24 hours more than 2500 barrels of oil of 28 gravity and showing a flow of gas estimated at more than three million cubic feet a day. This is the first completion in the field of the Big Boy Drilling company and one of the best in the town lot field in the Sixteenth street area. The Big Boy Drilling company is also drilling the Laughlin well on Walnut street between Seventeenth and Sixteenth.

The Centralia Oil company is operating under a lease from C. P.

Ritter of Long Beach and the well is known as the Ritter No. 2. The Riedling well on Sixteenth street between Walnut and Olive which came in Friday night was harnessed Sunday when the Richfield company hooked the gas into its pipelines and the terrific noise of three million cubic feet of gas a day screaming through the gas traps subsided.

This well is on two town lots formerly owned by Mrs. Gertrude Ward and sold through the United Realty and Investment company to R. E. Fairbanks, Phil Brain, Joe Rogers and associates. The purchasers started a well on the property and later subleased the project. The well showed an initial flow of about 2500 barrels a day.

ESTIMATES ON CITRUS MUST BE IN JAN. 10

Launching of the proration program under the California-Arizona citrus marketing agreement will be on January 14, and the deadline for filing estimates and applications for allotments set for next Wednesday, January 10, by the Growers Advisory committee, it was announced today by W. C. Frackleton, manager.

The Distribution committee concurred with the Growers committee in setting ahead for one week the time for beginning of proration. Both committees stressed the necessity for every shipper to have his estimate in by January 10. Otherwise he will have no allotment for shipments after January 14, when proration will become effective, it was stated.

The one week postponement from January 7 to 14 before beginning proration was decided upon because of the shortness of time for filing estimates and applications and an account of the weather which prevented estimating in many groves.

Official estimates and applications for allotment forms may be obtained from county farm advisors or horticultural commissioners, local chambers of commerce or from the Growers Advisory committee, 514 East Eighth street, Los Angeles.

Although allotments will not be assigned in time for next week, the Distribution Committee recommended shipment of 550 cars of oranges from California and Arizona, after considerable discussion of the marketing outlook. They feel that the market does not justify any heavier shipments on account of the heavy movement from Florida.

It was essential that estimates be filed immediately, because no shipper can receive an allotment or ship either oranges or grapefruit beginning January 14 unless such shipper has submitted his estimate and had his prorate basis set in conformity with the regulations of the Growers Advisory and Distribution committees," said Frackleton. "Under the agreement all shippers are treated alike, including individual growers who ship their own fruit. Growers who are not affiliated with any shipper must likewise protect themselves by filing their estimates with the Growers Advisory committee prior to January 10, 1934."

PLAN C. OF G. MEET
GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 8.—Directors of the chamber of commerce will meet at the Blue Bird cafe at noon Tuesday, according to announcement made by H. D. Adams, president. Several matters of importance will come before the board, Adams said.

TEXAS SEES GREAT VALUE IN OIL CODE

PLEASED WITH WAY PROBLEMS BEING SOLVED

This is the fifth of 11 articles on "America Under the Blue Eagle," a series written exclusively for The Register and other NEA Service newspapers, after a 600-mile journey of survey to the nation's principal centers of population, showing the situation after six months' operation of the recovery program.

BY WILLIS THORNTON
(Staff Correspondent)

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 8.—The last "wild man" of American industry has been tamed by the coming of the NRA and the oil code.

The oil fields have gotten themselves a haircut, shave and a clean shirt, and they're tickled to death with the way they look. The wild and woolly oil driller has become a family man, even as you and I, working 36 hours a week instead of 84, are raising chickens in his spare time.

And the industry that used to spend half its time cutting its own throat and the other half watching its precious natural resources, has seen the bright light that comes from NRA headquarters in Washington.

The days when four huge wells were turned loose just to entertain a trainload of oil field visitors, who saw literally millions of dollars go spraying off to the gulf of Mexico, are definitely over.

Solves Its Problems

I believe it accurate to say that no other industry has made such great and sudden strides toward solving its own problems under NRA as oil, and it has done all this at its own expense, without going to the taxpayer for anything but moral and legal backing.

Oil men from Oklahoma to the gulf, are pleased with the way their code has worked. And why wouldn't they be, when it has raised the price of crude oil from 10 cents a barrel to anywhere from 75 cents to a dollar?

J. D. Collett, general chairman of the regional committee, which includes Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and New Mexico, tells you how it was done: The first thing was to cut production to where it was approximately equal to consumptive demand, says Collett. Since the code took effect production has been cut approximately a half million barrels a day in the United States.

Producers Gain by Code

Texas, when it was producing a million barrels a day, got only $300,000 for that oil. Today almost a production of $3,000,000 for a day, it gets $750,000 for that. So why wouldn't oil producers be happy?

The problem of oil bootlegging remains. Collett estimates that perhaps 25,000 barrels of "hot oil" are being bootlegged daily, but other estimates place this as high as 75,000 barrels a day.

This might not seem like a great deal, but when refined and dumped cheaply on the gasoline market it upsets the whole marketing machinery, as the oil business still is highly competitive.

Investigators Driven Away

Enough of the boom-town frontier spirit survives so that a Texas railroad commission investigator and two federal operatives were driven off at Kilgore the other day at gun point. However, oil code authorities have no doubt that bootlegging can be stopped and virtually airtight control of production made a reality.

One oil man told me he believed 50 federal agents with proper authority could do more toward ruling the oil fields than the whole National Guard.

We have had very little trouble with compliance," L. E. Barrows, chairman of the state production committee, told me. The principal difficulty now lies in the fact that the code is not yet complete, and does not contain a complete schedule of wages. A minimum 43-cent-an-hour rate for field workers and a 35-hour week have been set, but there is wide divergence in the pay of more highly-skilled workers.

Dazed by Leisure

It was interesting to watch the reaction of drillers, pumpers, and roustabouts when their hours, which used to run 11 or 12 a day and seven days a week, suddenly were cut to 36 a week. At first the men would come out and stand around watching the rig on their day off. They were completely lost, and had no idea of what to do with their time.

But on a recent trip through the West Texas field I encountered many of the oil field men who were raising chickens and gardens, or going fishing on those days off. I met one driller way up in New Mexico taking a long trip on accumulated days off.

And you couldn't help observing that he was burning gasoline that wouldn't have been used if he still was working seven days a week.

This improvement in the oil business had a tremendous and immediate effect on the southwest, for the oil business is a cash affair, which settles up once a month.

Just so this picture may not appear perfect, 12 refineries in East Texas are making a legal fight on the code and have not yet signed with the Federal Oil Administration, and more than 250 cases of alleged violation of the oil code have been checked in Washington.

The money question seems a little remote down here. If a man is producing oil, or cotton, or wheat, or livestock, he knows that, whatever kind of money is decided on, people must come and give it to him for his oil or cotton.

He is in a different fix from the city worker with a fixed salary, wages, or savings, who never has anything of value but money.

This basic difference is reflected in the attitude of bankers. One banker here told me that he thought it might not be a bad idea for the government to pay off half its bonded debt in treasury notes. He couldn't see any difference between them and bonds, he said, except that the bonds bear interest and the notes would not.

Two Ways Cited

H. C. Burke, Jr., of the Continental National Bank will tell you that he believes there are two courses open on money—increasing its quantity or reducing its quality. You can control the second course, not the first.

Therefore, he believes the president deserves support in his effort to regulate the quality of money, avoiding the danger of uncontrolled increase in its quantity (as in Germany).

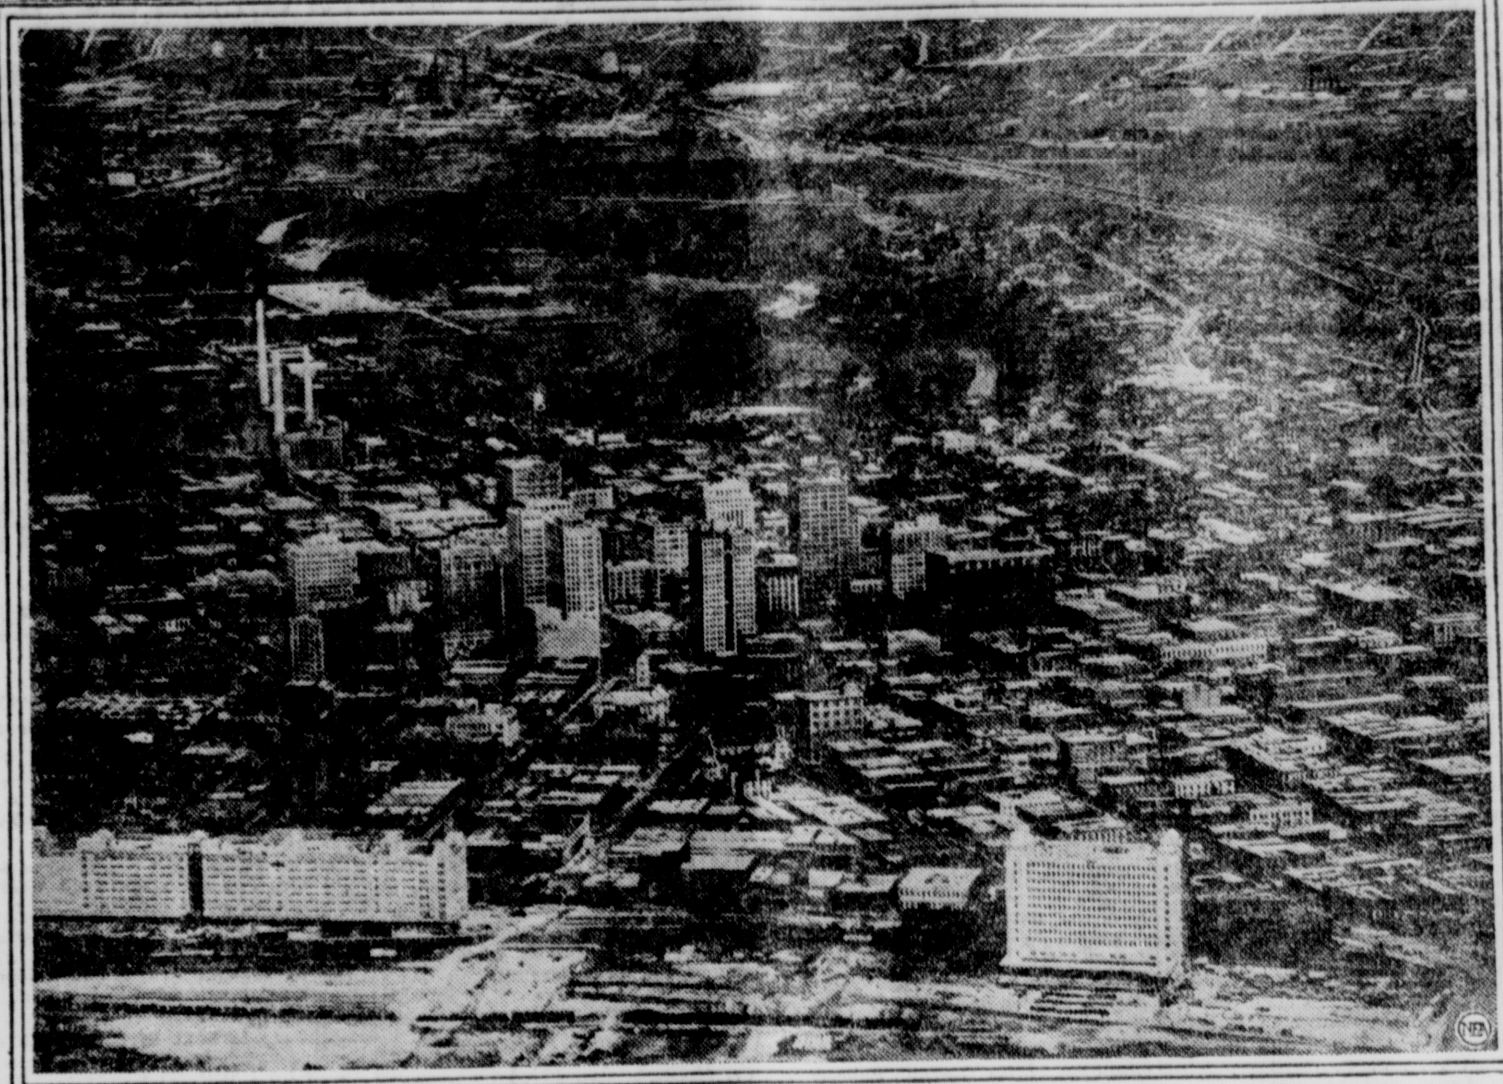

The arrival of the cotton plow money" has put cash in the hands of farmers hereabouts who had not known what money looked like for years.

That a great deal of this government money has gone to pay debts is shown by the fact that T. G. Yarbrough of the First National Bank estimates that debts owing Fort Worth banks by country banks practically have been wiped out in recent months.

Stand By NRA

NRA compliance here appears to have been rather more complete than in many cities. H. S. Foster, head of the compliance board, has complete records of 425 complaints, of which he says only 4

CODE BARS PREMIUMS

You won't be getting a quart of oil or a set of coupons good for crockery dishes thrown in with five gallons of gas in future. The giving away of trick prizes to customers at filling stations is prohibited by the oil code.

Another abuse in the oil fields that seems in a fair way to be abolished is the practice of bribing superintendents for drilling contracts and orders for equipment. That's also prohibited by the code.

This is due, Foster says, to extra efforts made here to inform people of NRA requirements. A questionnaire on re-employment on new help, creating 3941 new jobs, and making possible a dollar increase in payrolls of $3,957,948.37 a year.

Man Befriended At Trading Post Takes Property

Hoping to change a "knight of the road" by giving him board and lodging, L. F. Anis, manager of the Santa Ana Trading Post, 1925 East 12th street, discovered yesterday that his "friend" had disappeared with articles from the store valued at $29.

Police were called by Anis and a description given of the temporary guest. He was 18 or 20 years of age, 5 feet 8 1/2 inches tall, weighed 140 pounds, had dark complexion, wore blue overalls and was French Canadian, Anis said. The man told him that he had been in a great many jails on various offenses and was trying to reform. Anis thinks he may have gone to San Diego with a Mexican friend.

Among the articles reported missing were two pocket watches, watch case compass, pocket rule, blue serge coat and pair of tan shoes.

Miss Marian Stanley Will Be Wedded in Early February

Entertaining at dinner yesterday in her home on South Tustin avenue, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Stanley made the event a special occasion to their daughter, Miss Marian Stanley, not only in celebration of her birthday anniversary, but in recognition of the announcement of her engagement and approaching marriage to Clark Batchelder of Beverly Hills.

It was distinctly a family party, including in addition to the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley and their daughter, Miss Marian Stanley, her fiancé, Mr. Batchelder and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Batchelder of Del Mar, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith, and small son Peter of Laguna Beach. Mrs. Smith was the hostess.

The young people have selected the date of Saturday, February 10, for their wedding, which will be solemnized in Santa Ana First Congregational church.

Miss Stanley attended local schools, later graduating from Ohio University at Athens, Ohio. Since completion of school she has been office nurse with Dr. Dale E. Brockert, interrupting her duties for occasional trips including a summer abroad. Mr. Batchelder had his college work at University of Arizona, Tucson, and at Oregon State college, and is now in the insurance business in Beverly Hills.

Classes in Contract To Be Launched by Ebbl Society

Instituting a new feature in connection with club work, and one that promises to be extremely popular not only with club members but with bridge players throughout the city, Ebbl society tomorrow will introduce its weekly bridge classes for anyone interested in learning contract.

Arrangements have been completed whereby Mrs. Sara Haddon, a recognized authority on contract bridge, will conduct three classes each Tuesday in Ebbl clubhouse. The morning class at 9:30 o'clock will be for beginners. The more advanced players will convene at 1:30 p. m. while classes at 7:30 o'clock each Tuesday evening will be for both men and women players.

Each class will be conducted along a certain definite line. Mrs. Haddon will give a short lecture explaining various points of the game and the remainder of the period will be given over to supervised play. Each weekly bridge day will be under the general direction of some one section of the society, and tomorrow when the movement is launched, the program committee members, Mrs. George Rayer, Mrs. P. W. Slabaugh and Mrs. A. G. Plagge, will be sponsors.

Emphasis is laid upon the fact that the classes will be open to everyone with a very small fee asked for attendance each day. Ladies who wish to brush up on the rules or who wish instruction regarding certain definite points, may attend as many or as few meetings as they desire.

Junior Ebbl Speaker To Talk on Great Personalities

When Junior Ebbl society postponed its January meeting one week because of the proximity of the regular meeting date to the New Year holidays, members felt especially appreciative of the cooperation shown by their speaker, Dr. V. Cheyne Stevenson, who changed her own plans at personal inconvenience in order to present the program originally planned for January 2.

Dr. Stevenson will give her address, "Great Personalities I Have Met" at tomorrow night's club session at 7:30 o'clock in Ebbl lounge, drawing upon the experience of a richly varied life for her material. Born in New Zealand and educated in England, Dr. Stevenson has traveled widely with her husband, meeting an unusual number of the world's celebrities. In her travels and her educational work, she has found time for intensive study of world religions, and is recognized as an authority on Asiatic philosophy.

According to Miss Mary Safley, Junior Ebbl president, it was through Miss Nellie Bales of the program committee, that Dr. Stevenson was secured as a feature. At the conclusion of the address club members will enjoy a social interval with Dr. Stevenson as honor guest. Miss Lucille Harrison and her committee will serve light refreshments. On this committee are Mrs. Edmund West, Mrs. Charles Weber, Miss Boyd Joplin and Miss Evelyn Metzger.

Santa Anas Comprise Party Visiting L. A. Chinatown

Interest aroused in the minds of a group of Hoover school women by the preparations for raising the old Chinatown of Los Angeles in readiness for erecting the new Union station there, was increased by some of the reminiscences of Miss Hazel Nell Bemus of sketching tours of Chinatown during her college days in the city.

This inspired a trip to the places of interest in this unique foreign quarter of Los Angeles, when Miss Bemus acted as tour conductor Saturday for an interested and appreciative group. Through her acquaintance with the quarter and with various merchants, the party was enabled to visit many places not generally open to the public. In See On's big wholesale house, they saw a wealth of art treasures and curios of Oriental design and workmanship. The alley of vegetable markets, the first place to be razed, was quaint and decidedly foreign in atmosphere and at Granview Gardens, they had Chinese tea, a rite that comes between 11 and 12 o'clock in the morning rather than at the tea hour observed in the occident.

The Santa Anas were privileged to visit the kitchens and see the preparation of the meals served, all with the use of Chinese utensils. The noodle room especially aroused their interest with its long trays and its rolling pin some six feet long by as many inches in diameter.

After a visit to the Joss House, they repaired to Olvera street, and completed the day with a Spanish dinner.

In the party were Miss Bemus, principal of Hoover school, Mesdames Urbain H. Plavan, Gene Robinson, Herbert L. Johnson, who was joined by her mother, Mrs. F. Prager of Hollywood; Mrs. Otto Schroeder and her daughter, Miss Leona Schroeder, Mesdames W. B. Gibson, Lyle Anderson, Mac Robbins, John Ball, C. E. Bressler, H. J. Howard, Alton Homer, Stanley Reinhaus, Harry G. Huffman, E. D. Froeschle and Rodney Bacon.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

One of the Tines shouted, "Oh! We're buried in a house of snow. Our flying sled has played a trick that brought a big surprise."

Then Doty shouted, "Please help me back to my feet. I cannot see. I guess I landed head first, 'cause there's snow in both my eyes."

"Just wipe them out. Forget your fright," said Scouty. "You will be all right. We're lucky that we didn't land in something made of wood."

"I'm sorry, though, that we broke through this monstrous Eskimo igloo. I tried to steer our sled away. It didn't do much good."

"I'll say it didn't," cried the

TINYMITES

That was my little home, you see, and I'm as mad as I can be. Do as I say, or I will spank you all. That won't be fun!"

"Oh, we were merely pleasure bent. The whole thing was an accident," wailed Giddy. "Please don't spank us. We will build a big igloo."

"I'm sure, if we all lend a hand, we'll pile up one that will look grand. We'll let you be the boss, and you can tell us what to do."

They all worked for a little while. The Eskimo then, with a smile, said, "Ah, here comes my little son. Please let the igloo go. 'Instead, just play with my small boy. He seldom has small playmates. You can all have fun, I know."

Then to his little son he said, "Here are some new friends. Go ahead and shove them all around. There are some sights they'd like to see."

The youngster smiled from ear to ear. "I will!" he shouted. "Never fear." And then he hugged wee Doty. She was startled as could be.

GUEST ARTIST TO SING OVER KREG TONIGHT

A new guest artist in a presentation of "Moods in Melody" will be heard for the first time on KREG tonight, starting at 7:15. Florence Martin is the name and her voice has much with which to please, according to program officials.

Graduating from the Conservatory of Music at Oberlin last June, Miss Martin was given a trip to California as a graduation present. Almost immediately upon her arrival in San Francisco, her vocal talents attracted the attention of a national radio chain official who gave her a contract to take part in a well-known program, recently discontinued. A visit to southern California pleased her so much with this part of the state that she is making her residence here while making plans for the future. Her broadcasts from the local station, for the time being, are scheduled for Mondays and Wednesdays and probably Fridays at the same hour.

Florence Martin's program to-night is to include the popular hits: "Don't Blame Me," "Close Your Eyes" and "Gypsy Fiddles." She also will include the light classics: "Ships of Arcady," by Michael Head.

FAMOUS PLAYS SCENES TO BE HEARD TONIGHT

The second presentation of the series "Scenes from Famous Plays," scheduled each Monday at 7:30 p. m. on KREG, tonight at that time will present a scene from Edward Sheldon's love-story of the "Furies." "Romance," and will be portrayed by Virginia and Robert DeWolf.

"Romance" had one of the longest runs in the history of the theater in New York, London and Paris, and it has been estimated that over 35,000 performances have been given of the play. It was translated into four foreign languages.

The scene selected for tonight's broadcast is the final meeting of the beautiful, Italian opera star, Mme. Cavallini, and the fanatical young minister with whom she has fallen in love.

Listeners are requested to express their comments upon these presentations, by card, letter or telephone, to determine to what extent these programs are appreciated.

OLD FAMILY ALBUM NEWEST BROADCAST

Believing that the old songs, ballads, waltzes, fireside favorites and the older light classics engender the fondest of memories in the hearts of everyone who has any recollection of pre-war days, the program department of the California Broadcasting System is presenting a series comprising these memorable melodies entirely under the title of "The Old Family Album" and broadcast from KREG each Monday at 8 p. m.

The story is narrated by an old gentleman of the old school, Peter Todd, who turns the pages of the antique volume, to be reminded of faces and songs of long ago. The C. B. S. orchestra, under the direction of Salvatore Santella, supplies the music.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE FOR HARBOR PROJECT AT U. S. BUREAU

With the approval of the Orange County Harbor project, it was announced this morning that all men employed on the project would be hired through the National Re-employment Service in the basement of the court house.

The word was received this morning by Charles, Fallert, manager of the Orange County Employment Service in a letter from NRS headquarters in San Francisco.

When workers register with the NRS they are classified as to trade qualifications and other data. When the call comes for workers they are assigned on the basis of the information filed in Fallert's office.

The first plan of registration, Fallert said, was to have all applicants come to the basement of the courthouse. This caused so much congestion that 16 registrars were placed throughout the county to simplify the work of enrolling the workers. He said that one of the chief bases for picking men was their number of dependents and ability. It is not always possible to judge individual cases, he said.

Foremen and city engineers were urged to get orders for trucks and materials through as early as possible so that men and equipment may be assigned without delay.

It was brought out that Fallert's office is not a CWA subdivision but does other federal work as well. The CWA has no choice in assigning men for projects, it was stated by Director Robert Ramsey, but merely asks Fallert for assignments of workers.

In connection with this, it was announced that all letters of introduction and those seeking favors for men now unemployed or wishing to be reassigned are not handled by Fallert but are directed to San Francisco. This was done to prevent attempts to influence local managers or use undue influence in obtaining work.

At the conclusion of his talk, Fallert asked that milkers be needed in Los Angeles to combat the milk strike which started Saturday.

TWO GIVEN FINES IN ASSAULT CASE

Charles Brophy, arrested in Portland, Oregon last week for escaping from the Orange County hospital in August while working as a jail trustee, was returned to the county jail yesterday by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey.

Brophy walked out of the hospital laundry, complaining of sickness, and failed to return. Portland police arrested him on a vagrancy charge and notified the sheriff's office. He had been working on a railroad until his arrest. He was serving six months sentence for petty theft here.

When arrangements for his escape charge before Judge Kenneth Morrison this morning, he had his preliminary examination set for January 15 at 9 a. m. and bail was set at $2500.

Brophy was implicated in the assault case, where he was charged by Horton with severely beating him and breaking his jaw after pursuing a car driven by Mrs. Feather from Tustin to Costa Mesa. Mr. and Mrs. Feather and Mrs. H. A. Kehler had become confused in driving to Balboa and stopped in Tustin to ask directions, they said. The three youths followed their car and attempted to force it off the road, they charged, and attacked Feather when the car stopped for aid in Costa Mesa.

Doty pleaded guilty to assault and was fined $25 by Judge Dodge. Stafford pleaded guilty to assault and reckless driving, being fined $25 on the first count and $100 on the second. On the latter charge Stafford was put on probation and had his driver's license suspended for six months. Horton previously had pleaded guilty to assault, been fined $25, and had reckless driving charges dismissed.

Deputy District Attorney Preston Torrey prosecuted the case against the youths, who were arrested after their escape by trading license numbers.

KREG NOTES

"Si and Elmer," the popular "hick" duo, whose misadventures as correspondence school de-fectives has acquired a large audience for them, will be heard in the mornings on KREG 15 minutes earlier than usual and will begin their broadcast at 11 o'clock. Their evening broadcast will remain at the same time: 6:45. This popular feature is being presented daily except Sunday and Monday by Charles Electric Service of 115 East 6th Street, in Santa Ana.

Two youthful, fresh, trained voices have been combined to form a team which program officials of the California Broadcasting System believe will be one to give a new type of double harmony to listeners.

Adele Burian, former San Francisco network singer, and Pat Nielson, for several months heard with Anson Weeks on a national cigarette series, are the two young people whose interpretations of songs of the moment will be heard every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, 11:15 a. m. on KREG.

15 minutes of Curt Houck's Roosevelt Hotel Orchestra; a C. B. S. broadcast from KREG tonight, starting at 7:45.

WRESTLING CLASS TO START MONDAY

Young men interested in learning the elements of wrestling will have an opportunity to start work to that purpose this evening at the Y. M. C. A. when a course in elementary wrestling will be opened for the senior gymnasium class. Wayne Wilhite, a junior college student, will give the instruction, and the work is open to any man over 16 years of age who is a member of the Y.

The class will meet regularly on Monday evenings at 8 o'clock. While one group works at wrestling, another group will engage in gymnastics, both for beginners and for advanced men.

All the work is done under the leadership of volunteers, it was stated by Secretary R. C. Smalley, who explained that this class is one of the numerous features being offered in the physical department to men who are members of the Y. M. C. A. Men may enter the classes at any time, but best results will be obtained by starting with the first of the work, which will be given tonight.

ESCAPED TRUSTY IS BACK IN JAIL

Brophy walked out of the hospital laundry, complaining of sickness, and failed to return. Portland police arrested him on a vagrancy charge and notified the sheriff's office. He had been working on a railroad until his arrest. He was serving six months sentence for petty theft here.

THE PUBLIC FORUM

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writer and may not be the opinions of The Register.

To the Editor:

Friday night in The Register in your report of a meeting at the Temple theater there appeared the statement of a man who said that he had been given a Red Cross blanket by a Red Cross worker at the county welfare department from some special blankets kept in a closet, and that he had been asked to leave the room through a window so that "that trash out there" referring to applicants for aid in the hall, would not know about it.

I am the Red Cross worker to whom reference was made. The Red Cross had a few blankets on hand. It was decided by the officers of the chapter to hold those blankets in reserve for sick persons, for small children, for old folks and for families that had no bedding. Had the blankets been distributed right and left, they would have been gone in a very short time. I'll leave it to any thoughtful person if the plan adopted by the Red Cross is open to honest criticism.

Had he taken the blankets through the hall, I would have been swamped with demands for blankets from the 25 to 30 persons waiting there.

Yes, I did suggest that he step out the window. It is a very large window, the bottom of which is not more than 15 inches from the floor and sidewalk, and it has been used often by me and by others without any loss of dignity.

And every day by men, women and children, as a matter of convenience.

The statement was made that I had referred to the applicants in the hall as "that trash out there." My word is good with those who know me. When I say to you, as I do say, that I made no such remark, and my attitude of heart towards the applicants is such that I expect you, too, to believe me. If that is not sufficient, you can have the word of Miss Martha Wallingford, who was present, who remembers the incident in all its details and who will tell you that I made no such remark.

CARRIE NAIRN LEBRICK.

LONG-TIME PLANNING

President Roosevelt is now working on a gigantic fifty-year national program for public works. It is declared that while the emergency program is likely to cause huge national deficits for the next two years, the President thinks that future programming can be carried on out of current income.

We conceive that this is a wise idea. Turning to the field of private endeavor, it is not unusual to hear of long-range planning. Particularly in the public utility field, where quite often a program is made for several years ahead. Then, too, we have before us the example of the tremendous development of Soviet Russia by means of a co-ordinated plan of industrialization and collectivization.

In the past, in our own country, we have had unforgivable waste of our natural resources, and little vision in planning for the income and expenditures of the government. It has been a hit-and-miss proposition, with the government going its own road, without too much attention given to the long-time factors of development for the good of the whole country.

The plan suggested will include flood control works, the conservation of the forests, and power projects in various parts of the country, and reclamation of land. If there is no goal in an individual's life, too often he is content to meander along, and does not arrive at any destination. So it is true with a government such as ours, which is all the people. We have had no goal, except possibly that of money making.

It has been fairly difficult for us to achieve this goal in the past four years, and we have asked the government to come in and help us out. But many people have visioned a larger goal for the country, security and opportunity for all. Insofar as the permanent plan proposed will provide the means for reaching this new goal, it will be a successful one.

There is no doubt but that as the years go by, the government must plan farther and farther ahead. It must bring private industry and governmental expenditures into co-ordination. It must provide for co-operation among all branches of private enterprise, and for a balance between the two great divisions, manufacturing and agriculture. This will not come about overnight, but will come as the result of study and observation over a period of years, and further experimentation, such as we have entered into during the past year.

We should not be surprised if this suggested public works plan is but a part of a larger program which the President has in mind. It is entirely in keeping with his challenge to the country: "We must go forward."

STRIKE CALLS ATTENTION

There is a strike on among the milkers in the dairies of Los Angeles and Orange county. It seems that $65 a month is being asked by those who receive board and room, and $85.00 to $90.00 by those who do not receive their "keep." The $90.00 would be about $3.00 per day, as milking requires seven days a week, though we believe the strikers are asking that there be enough milkers so that only six days shall be required.

The amount these milkers are asking is the same amount per hour that the government workers are receiving through the CWA, we believe. It is very difficult for one on the outside to determine the merits of the case. But of course it is obvious that the amount asked for without room and board is not too large for a family's use. It amounts to about $23.00 a week, as milking undoubtedly the milk associations themselves would admit was not high.

On the other hand, it may be more than they can afford to pay at present prices. If this be true, it must be because expenses have gone up very greatly since the time when we were engaged in the milk business. We have whole-saled milk at ten cents a gallon, and thought we were doing well. We have retailed it at five cents a quart, and at least made our living out of it. At the time we were doing this farm labor was $20.00 a month and board, but, besides milking, the worker put the hours of the day, in between the milking time, in producing the food for the cattle.

But if we could have doubled the price of the milk, the only additional expense we would have had then would have been the labor. That would have enabled us to multiply the price of the labor several times. Expenses have been added in every direction since that time.

We presume that some day there will be a check-up on all these things, so that the merits of any such controversies which affect the public, and enlist the attention, direction and services of our peace officers, shall be known. In a great many of these interests under the NRA the workers now have the opportunity to appeal to government officials for arbitration and correction. The dairying business does not come under the NRA.

FROM PRAYER TO KILLING

A report from Germany in the news tells of two men who knelt down in the commendable exercise of prayer before going to bed. Because one of them did not like the kind of prayer the other one was making, a quarrel was started which resulted in a killing. Some years ago, two life convicts in the Pennsylvania State penitentiary got into a quarrel about religion, and one killed the other. Both cases seemed of sufficient interest and importance to be classed as news by the Associated Press.

Yet there is nothing unusual in such incidents. It is strange how we fail to be shocked by wholesale killing and raise to major significance the killing of an individual. It used to be not at all unusual for men to get so stirred up about religious opinions that they killed at wholesale. The religious wars of the fifteenth and the sixteenth centuries made all Europe a battlefield upon which hundreds of thousands perished. The Spanish Inquisition stands with the killing of thousands and the torture of many thousands more,—all in the interest of religion. If men do not go to such extremes today, it is not because they feel differently about religious differences, but because the more humane civilization of today will not tolerate the extreme cruelties. That the same spirit is still with us is manifest in the religious intolerance which springs up from time to time in our own country and the present persecution of Jews in Germany.

Madame Roland, about to be guillotined in the days of the French Revolution, exclaimed, in words which will never cease to be quoted, "Oh, Liberty, what crimes have been committed in thy name." Too often has it been possible to say the same of religion. How a religion which has its basis in love for all mankind can give way to cruelty still remains one of the contradictions of our civilization.

A new Jewish state has been started in Siberia. It's called Bureya—which warns you in advance of the weather you can expect there.

HEROISM ENCOURAGES ALL

Yesterday a Brooklyn policeman died trying to rescue a nine-year-old girl from an apartment house which was on fire.

The girl was trapped in an apartment, her father being absent at the time. The policeman saw the fire and turned in the alarm. He then went into the house to save the girl, but both were burned to death.

This officer, in the course of duty, saw the situation, and, without thinking of himself, showed supreme courage and heroism. When faced with the situation, he did not hesitate, but did the only thing a loyal and trustworthy official could do. It again evidences the selflessness of many members of the human race, and the fact that many recognize that there are higher rewards than those for which most of us strive.

This incident gives us added faith in our fellow man, and in the hope that the progress of civilization shall be upward in its movement. It shows that in the crises which may come in the future, we need not fear that the conscientious peace officer will not do his duty.

German professor says there are six different races in Europe, and not one of them is free. He's an American, of course.

GOODWILL TOUR ADDS EDUCATIONAL VALUES

A recent announcement of the second goodwill tour to Mexico from this section increases greatly the appeal of the tour to people here who want to derive the utmost value from such an expenditure of time and money as the tour requires. It has been arranged for a group of officials and leaders in Mexico to speak on the phases of current interest with which they are familiar. This program includes talks by the ministers of education and agriculture as well as other topics. The members of this second goodwill tour will therefore hear as well as see many things which will interest them in Mexico. The second goodwill tour will be an educational benefit as well as a pleasure.

Clever C. C. Wu

The sudden death at Hongkong of Dr. C. C. Wu removes from the scene a colorful figure in Chinese life, who was almost as well known in America as in his own country.

"The next cleverest man that ever came out of China—the only cleverest one being his father." Thus Dr. Wu was presented to a Washington audience some years ago. The even cleverer father was, of course, Wu Ting-fang, also Minister to the United States, who was the delight of American diplomatic society of the last generation.

Wu Chao-chu, to call him by his Chinese name, grew up largely in the United States, where he was valedictorian of his high school class. He was also a graduate in law of London University and was called to the British bar, as his father had been before him. He had served in the Republican and National governments of post-revolution China in a whole series of high offices, besides being, like his father, Minister to the United States, and was the first Chinese delegate to the League of Nations.

A loyal Cantonese, he separated himself from the service of the Nanking government when Canton withdrew from it, but did not regard himself or his province as thereby seceding from China.

Like his father and all his relatives, Wu's outstanding characteristics were cleverness, personal charm and a skilled combination of Oriental subtlety and Western frankness. Many Americans will remember him with affection, as the older generation similarly remembers his father.

Airplanes Contribute to Study of Geography

The plane in which Charles and Anne Lindbergh made their recent 29,000-mile flight has been given to the American Museum of Natural History in New York. Along with it goes all the equipment used in the flight, including such items as electrically-heated clothing for Arctic flying and sun helmets for the tropics, and even their untouched emergency rations.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE VOICE OF A VOLUNTEER

Dear Uncle:—I'm told that the farmer Who gives you his pledge to abstain From raising more wheat Than the public can eat Will be paid not to grow any grain. So I rise to suggest that we poets Perhaps are producing too much For the need of the times Of ballads and rhymes And epodes and sonnets and such.

I am sure that my lyrical brethren Would agree not to lift any more Through the rest of their lives If they—and their wives— Could just keep the wolf from the door. They may say they are singing for glory, But that, Uncle Sam, is a bluff; Not an ode they'll indite, Not a ditty they'll write, Once you pay them to lay off their stuff.

If your aim is to limit production, Pray take this suggestion from me: Put these bardic words to dole So their poetic souls From the hard hand of want shall be free And, just so the work may get started, Without any irksome delay, I inform you that I Will be in to apply For my first quarter's pension today.

Six-fifty a quart and up for aged and uncut liquor! And that, gentlemen, is Prohibition as is Prohibition! Question from a radio scribe: "Will Melton be Melton without the Revellers?" Question from us: Will the Revellers be the Revellers without Melton?

Naive Nellie says the golfers ought to be happy because they can now have real liquor at the nineteenth hole. General Johnson says: "The Roosevelt dollar is the soundest money on the face of the earth." But that isn't saying a kehuvalot.

The farmers don't expect much, really. They merely are demanding that the law of supply and demand be repealed.

Present-day "advertisements" are showing every conceivable novelty except non-roll-under-the-dresser-able collar buttons and non-refillable baby carriages.

What is so rare as a day in June? Answer: a day on which no new name for women's underwear appears in the ads. Millions of Americans want inflation. Millions of Americans have been seeing Mae West films. Just a coincidence, of course.

AMERICANISM: Yelling our heads off in 1776 when King George put a small tax on tea; letting tax-collectors take our right eyes today with scarcely a yip.

Dumb animals are the ones that don't mix eight conflicting chemicals in their tummies. Many families, as Mrs. Roosevelt says, get along with two servants. They are Ma and daughter.

Anyway, it is sporting of the law's agents to notify the underworld which gangster they are after this time. Still, Mr. Hoover, the people took the law in their own hands during Prohibition.

Russia has the biggest library in the world, and we'll wager it isn't read if it isn't Red.

The solution is simple. Make it contempt of court to evade the NRA as it is to evade alimony.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

AMERICA AS TRUSTEE OF REFORM

As congress convenes it is important, I think, for its members to realize the gravity of the responsibility that rests upon them. In the light of history I suspect it will be seen that upon this session of congress rested the responsibility of the survival or collapse of political liberty and private capital throughout the western world.

This is tall talk. How can so much hinge upon the action of one parliament body? Are we cast in the role of uplifting extraordinary to the world? No. It just happens, however, that we are the one western nation that has deliberately set out to socialize the impact of private capitalism upon the millions without smashing the system in the interest either of left-wing Communism or right-wing Fascism. If we succeed our success will undoubtedly moderate the extreme tendencies elsewhere and will inevitably generate revolutionary moods, either Communist or Fascist, here.

We have signally failed where we have set out—as at the end of the World War—to play evangelist and uplifter to the world. But this time we shall register a world effect by the simple contagion of our example.

America as Uplifter has been given to a very unrealistic emotionalism. America as Demonstrator needs the utmost of realistic statesmanship.

Realistic statesmanship is above the battle alike of reckless radicalism and of timid reaction. It will turn a deaf ear to the "practical men" who plunged us into disaster and to the "theorists" who never touch earth with their paper plans.

Congress must play for realistic statesmanship. It must hold the innumerable lobbies of local and selfish interests at arm's length. It must be willing to bear the lions of reactionary business, industry and finance in their dens. It must not weaken, before the duty of drastically reforming those policies and practices of private capitalism that have brought the world into a blind alley. But it must beware of playing fast-and-loose with those priceless values of incentive and initiative that have, for all our faults, made us a great people, fertile in resourcefulness and free in experimentation.

Courage and responsibility! These are the two watchwords for congress.

SCHOOL SICKNESS

School sickness is usually a good joke. "He had school toothache until nine-five and after that he was quite well. Guess he hadn't done his homework last Friday night."

That is not the sort I mean. The remedy for that is plain. Real school sickness is not so easily detected nor so easily cured. It shows itself in the dragging step, the dull eye, the delight in an hour off, and worst of all, in the loss of appetite and vomiting of breakfast.

Little children are the worst sufferers. Their first days in school are adventures into the unknown. They have to feel their way. Even the language is strange. "Take your seat," says the teacher. "Go and sit down," was what mother said. At home getting a drink or going to the toilet were matters of the greatest simplicity. You just went. In school there are ceremonies about such simple things. Even about going up and downstairs. Somebody always goes along, and the teacher asks questions and writes something in a book. This goes on all day until so complicated are the problems of the day that one's head begins to feel queer and one's stomach begins to squirm.

This is all the worse if the teacher happens to be one of the cross ones who shout, thump, snap, bang bells and the like. Then one's head is soon twirling and one's stomach is in a complete. Even, release to home and mother does not lift the dead weight from the soul. After sleep comes school again—something must be done to stop it. The anxiety does what anxiety always does, strikes to the stomach, and the rest is a tale that is told.

This illness is not a disease. It is a condition. The child is just as much distressed by it as he would be by an organic disease. The mental condition that turns his stomach, tenses his muscles, chills his blood, is a state of unhealth quite as serious as those for which prompt medical aid is summoned.

The fear of the teacher and the school, whatever the cause, has to be removed. The best cure for fear is confidence. That's almost like telling the frightened child to be brave and he will feel better but we can help this frightened child by taking the cause of his fear out of his way.

If he is failing in school make success and its result, praise, possible for him if you have to disregard the curriculum and make a special exercise for him. He MUST succeed and he MUST be praised so that the success is genuine and the praise deserved, if his courage is to be borne and justified. Any skilled teacher understands how to do this.

If the school is not set in sympathy and understanding then the child has to go to some other school to find his place. It is better to move a child to another school than to let him stay in dread and fear and illness in the school that is causing his suffering. For he is suffering. Mental distress is acute suffering. It is cruel to neglect a child, or to permit his program to cause him to suffer, in this respect.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped addressed envelope for reply.)
